

LAMAR ARRESTED IN WASHINGTON ON NEW YORK INDICTMENT FOR IMPSONATING CONGRESSMEN

Recent Witness in Lobby Probe Entangled by Own Confession—Is To Fight Extradition—He Is Out On A Bond of $3,000.

Washington, Sept. 11.—David Lamar, conspicuous figure in the senate lobby investigation and now under indictment in New York for impersonating members of congress, was arrested here tonight by order of Attorney General McReynolds. He was released on $3,000 bond.

What promises to be a long drawn out extradition contest, will begin September 17, the date set for Lamar's appearance before the United States commissioner here. The warrant on which the arrest was made was issued by the federal court in New York and has been brought here solely to be carried back, the authorities hoping to get their hands on Lamar in New York state and avoid the necessity of extradition proceedings and delay of probably a year or more.

In the meantime Lamar has been in Washington, staying at a downtown hotel and appearing at the capital almost daily to attend sessions of the senate lobby committee. Lately he had vainly tried to get the investigators to hear him expostulate what he said was a great railroad lobby maintained in Washington.

R. O. Sampson, a New York special agent of the department of justice, came here this afternoon with the bench warrant and accompanied by several district officers, arrested Lamar as he was entering his hotel. The prisoner did not seem surprised and within a few minutes had summoned by telephone his lawyer and bondsman.

When Lamar, a former Wall street broker, first took the witness stand before the senate committee and nonchalantly told of impersonating Representative Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, Representative Richard and other public men in an effort to have Edward Lauterbach, a New York lawyer, employed by the Union Pacific railroad for work in Washington it was there was no law by which he could be reached. Later, however, the case was investigated by the federal grand jury in New York and indictments returned charging the former broker with impersonating federal officers with intent to defraud.

This is said to be the first attempt on record to punish impersonation of a member of congress, although there have been various instances of such impersonations and bills have been introduced to make the act unlawful.

The process of extradition from the District of Columbia is extraordinarily slow. When arraigned before the commissioner Lamar will demand proof of a prima facie case against him and the government will present the record of the New York indictment. If extradition is ordered then the prisoner may bring the matter before the supreme court of the district by suing out a writ of habeas corpus.

Conrad Triber Dead.

St. Louis, Sept. 11.—A cable dispatch today announced the death of Conrad Triber, aged 66, retired professor of ancient history at the college of Frankfurt, Germany. He was a brother of Jacob Triber of Little Rock.

Dr. Triber was the author of many historical works. His large private library he willed to the city of Frankfurt.

Lepor Pleads.

St. Louis, Sept. 11.—Geo. O. Hartman, the leper who escaped from the local quarantine, is hiding in Mexico. It was learned here tonight through an appeal he has sent to the public of St. Louis for funds with which he hopes to be cured of the malady. The plea is included in a letter received by C. R. Fairbanks.

Paris Beliefs.

Paris, Sept. 11.—The Mexico City correspondent of the Matin says that it is believed that the Mexican congress, which convenes September 15, will revise the constitution so as to permit General Huerta's candidacy for the presidency.

"If the revision is voted," adds the correspondent, "General Huerta doubtless will consent to be a candidate."

DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATIVE METHODS CAUSE ANDERSON TO QUIT COMMITTEE

Condemns Action on Currency Bill—Resigns From Ways and Means Because "Deprived of Opportunity of Service."

Washington, Sept. 11.—As the climax of the vigorous republican condemnation of democratic legislative methods which has marked the currency debate, a republican representative, Sidney Anderson, of Minnesota, on the floor of the house late today resigned as a member of the powerful ways and means committee. In a speech bitterly assailing legislation through caucus action and partisan consideration of the Underwood tariff bill and the Glass currency bill in committee, Representative Anderson declared that the "system of legislation established here" made his efforts on the committee a "farce and a fraud."

Throughout the day the republicans had criticized the means employed by the democrats in framing the currency bill, denouncing the secret sessions of the banking and currency committee majority and the secret sessions of the caucus which endorsed the bill. This evening Representative Anderson obtained the floor and sent his resignation to the clerk's desk to take effect. The house listened in silence and when the clerk concluded Mr. Anderson, in a lengthy speech explained his reasons for resigning.

"I am induced to resign my membership on the committee on ways and means," he said, "because the rules of this house and the system of legislation in vogue here deprive me of my opportunity for service to the country on the committee and because my continuance on that committee must be construed into an acquiescence in fraud upon those who have a right to believe and do believe, that I have had, or shall have, some part in framing the legislation reported by that committee."

Deprived of Opportunity.

"The rules of the house written and unwritten, deprive me of my opportunity for service and the system of legislation, visible and invisible, which obtains here strips me of my prerogatives as a representative of the people. If the present system continues the inevitable result must be that men of ability no longer will seek membership in the house."

He reviewed the course of the tariff bill through the ways and means committee and the house, and said:

"I have had no part in the framing of the tariff bill which passed the house and the senate. I shall have none. I am overwhelmed, discouraged, disheartened by the uselessness and fruitlessness of it all."

In an analysis of the operation of the caucus system Mr. Anderson declared that fourteen southern states—Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia—alone send 129 democrats to the house, enough to control the legislative policy of the caucus and hence of the house.

Through the day the general discus-

The Weather

Waco remained in the area of low barometer pressure yesterday afternoon and last night, which, according to Dr. I. Block, voluntary weather observer, indicated continued unsettled weather today, probably clearing at night and cooler. The high barometric pressure which centered over the St. Lawrence Valley Wednesday shifted yesterday to the Atlantic ocean. The high pressure in Montana increased in intensity yesterday and in some parts the temperature dropped below the freezing point, going as low as 26.

Local Temperatures.

The range of temperatures for the twenty-four hours ended yesterday at 7 p. m., as reported by Dr. Block: Maximum 82, minimum 73, humidity 94, barometer 30. Rainfall was .45. Total wind passage was 91 miles, the greatest velocity being 6 miles an hour between 3 and 4 p. m., and the average was 4.5-6 miles.

Government Forecast.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Waco and vicinity—Local showers Friday; Saturday probably fair; light to moderate east winds.

West Texas—Local showers Friday; Saturday fair.

POSSIBILITY OF HUERTA STEPPING DOWN AND OUT OF PROVISIONAL PRESIDENCY

AMERICAN CLOTHING COMPANY, DURANGO, AFTER BEING SACKED AND BURNED BY CONSTITUTIONALISTS

Reports received at the Department of State show that Mexico City is beginning to see a possibility of General Huerta stepping down and out of the provisional Presidency.

The suggestion that he may do so upon the assembling of congress on September 15, after delivering in person a message to that body dealing with the relations between Mexico and the United States, has greatly interested administration officials. A similar rumor has reached the United States through Mr. Lind and Mr. O'Shaughnessy, but it is asserted that no definite assurance to this effect has yet been given.

While this is the end toward which President Wilson has been steadily working, there is no disposition at this end to crowd General Huerta unnecessarily. President Wilson has felt confident that once he understood the United States would not recognize his government under any circumstances, and that this determination represented the will of the American people, he would soon find his position impossible to maintain.

ARE NOW AWAITING ELECTION

Not Recognize Government with the Country in Chaos and People
Have No Voice.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Administration officials here are convinced that the Mexico City authorities have no effective plan of their own to bring about peace in Mexico and that the situation there is drifting. The United States will wait with interest the election scheduled for October 26, but does not feel bound to recognize the government resulting from that election. Should an election be attempted while most of the country is in up arms, and in which a majority of the people shall have had no voice, the American government will adhere to previous precedents and withhold recognition. These views are expressed by officials in administration circles who know the position of President Wilson.

Senor Manuel de Zamacoia, supposed to be the personal representative of Provisional President Huerta, left Washington today after a day's visit without seeking any interview with government officials. Charge Almaraz of the Mexican embassy conferred with Secretary Bryan, but shed no light on the Zamacoia mission.

The attitude of the United States toward Zamacoia has been made plain to the Mexican officials. He will be received only if he comes to treat on a new basis and on the assumption that the proposals made by John Lind have been finally settled, namely, that the request for recognition be withdrawn and Huerta eliminated from the presidential contest.

These points the American government considers essential and sees no necessity for further negotiations unless they are agreed to.

While the situation in Mexico City is described by American officials as one of quicksand, Mr. Lind is to remain in Mexico indefinitely, using his own discretion as to when it is best for him to return.

President Wilson left tonight for Cornish, N. H., to spend the week end with his family at the summer white house and during his absence no further developments are expected.

The administration will await with interest the message to be delivered by Provisional President Huerta next Tuesday to the Mexican congress.

EXPECT HUERTA'S RESIGNATION.

Rumors Current That Provisional President Will Not Race.

Vera Cruz, Sept. 11.—Persistent rumors current here that General Huerta really intends to resign from the presidency at an early date are interesting. President Wilson's personal representative, Mr. Lind, is tending to support these rumors as two stories apparently from an authentic source. One is to the effect that an American

President of Bank Says the Loss Will Carriers.

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 11.—Officials of the Southern Express company tonight were reticent as to the disappearance of currency amounting to $71,900 which vanished from a portable safe on Atlantic Coast Line train No. 89, while in transit from Jersey City to Savannah. The loss of the money became known today, when $50,000 of it was to have been delivered to the Savannah Bank and Trust company. The remainder of the money was consigned to banks at Brunswick and Valdosta, Ga. The currency was shipped by the Chase National bank of New York.

Except the money in envelopes and locked in the portable safe, had mysteriously disappeared when express officials prepared to deliver the shipment today, nothing had been learned tonight. No arrests have been made.

Express Company Losers.

New York, Sept. 11.—Samuel C. Miller, vice president of the Chase National bank, said today his bank had shipped a large amount of currency to banks in Georgia by the Adams Express.

"If this money has been stolen," he said, "and is not recovered the loss will fall upon the express company."

Mr. Miller said that the $50,000 package was only one of those in the shipment made by the Chase National.

The safe containing the $71,900 in two packages was delivered by the Adams Express company to the Southern Express company at Jersey City, according to W. W. Pendleton, general agent of the Adams company. The transfer was made last Monday night, Mr. Pendleton said, and at that time the safe and its contents were intact. The $71,900, he said, were consigned to separate banks in Georgia.

Newsies to Aid "Buffalo Bill"

Austin, Sept. 11.—Eighty members of the Austin Working Boys' club, composed of newboys and messenger boys, all under the age of 17 years, tonight started a statewide movement which they hope will extend until the working boys of every state in the union are interested to raise funds for Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill), who recently filed a bankruptcy petition in Chicago.

Each boy subscribed ten cents and the resolution passed embodies a plea to all boys of the United States to do likewise. They term their movement one in support of a "former western boy, who is known to the boys of every city in the world."

REST OF WEEK CHANGE OF VENUE

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY ADDI-TIONAL WITNESSES IN ARSON CASE.

WEATHERFORD CLAIMS AN ALIBI

Will Be Defense When Case Actually Goes to Trial—Attorneys in Tilt.

Fort Worth, Sept. 11.—One hundred and fifty additional witnesses were summoned this afternoon on the change of venue motion in the Lee Weatherford arson case. Indications now are that this point alone will require the remainder of the week to settle. A tilt between Attorneys McLean and Lattimore over Lattimore using the word "hedge" in cross examination ended in Judge Brown threatening to fine both if they opened their mouths.

An Alibi.

An alibi will be Lee Weatherford's defense when his actual trial on the charge of burning the First Baptist church is begun.

This was brought out this morning in the hearing in the Sixty-seventh district court on the state's motion for a change of venue in the case, when Attorney William P. McLean, Jr., announced the defense would show that Weatherford was not in the vicinity of the First Baptist church from ten hours before to ten hours after the church burned and that another person was responsible for the fire.

That the latter testimony will be admissible, he said, was assured by a lately decided case, not yet in the law books, but issued in pamphlet form.

A tilt occurred when Senator Lattimore for the special prosecutors explained to a venue witness that the defense would attempt to "reshuffle" the Norris case and that therefore he would refer to it as the Norris case. McLean announced that the evidence would not be a "reshuffle," emphasizing that word.

More than 300 witnesses have already been summoned on the change of venue motion asked by the special prosecutors. Several witnesses have asked for their dollar fee effective on July 1 under the new law.

District Clerk Brook applied to Judge Brown for instruction and was notified that he will not approve such claims. As the warrants to be good must be approved by the judge, the district clerk is not drawing them.

Dr. F. P. Culver said the newspapers, as far as he is noticed, had been fair in the Norris case.

The defense profited in several instances by the special prosecutors' cross-examinations.

The question asked several witnesses about whom they had talked to before being summoned brought out that the witnesses are being summoned among the well informed people without any previous communication with them.

The defense scored again when C. K. Lee was on the stand. He had given it as his opinion that newspaper reading of the "Norris case" as the special prosecutors had dubbed it, would

SHERIFFS PRISONERS

POSSE ATTEMPTS TO ARREST
SMUGGLERS OF AMMUNITION AND ARE CAPTURED.

Taken to Border from Carrizo Springs.
Offers to Send Rangers to Rescue.

Austin, Sept. 11.—Word reached the governor this morning of a fight between a sheriff's posse and fifteen ammunition smugglers near Carrizo Springs early today, in which Officers Bucking and Ortiz of the sheriff's posse were captured and carried toward the border by the smugglers. The pitched battle between the smugglers and the posse resulted in no deaths, and upon receipt of word as to the capture of the officers another posse was quickly formed and started in pursuit.

The men were apprehended while carrying ammunition towards the border. J. A. Vails, district attorney, who wired the governor, was advised on receipt of the telegram that if it was necessary to send out the rangers he would do so.

When requested for a statement tonight as to the manner in which he would advise the authority bestowed by the opinion of the attorney general allowing him to send Texas rangers out of the state on requisitions for fugitives from justice instead of sheriffs in view when he requested the opinion, the governor advised that he had had the right to send rangers for fugitives when sheriffs refused to go. The opinion was requested on a certain case from Grayson county, where the sheriff had refused to go after a prisoner in another state.

The man was held on a minor offense and the governor did not believe the requisition for the prisoner and the allowance of ten cents per mile for the sheriff within the state law and expenses outside justified the trip. The sheriff refused to make the trip unless expenses were guaranteed. In all cases of this kind the governor would send a ranger.

Word was received by the governor this afternoon from Carrizo Springs, advising that the Texas rangers would not be needed in that district for the apprehension of the ammunition smugglers, but requested that efforts be made to stop them at the border.

The governor thereupon referred the matter to General Tasker Bliss at Fort Sam Houston for his action on the matter.

Ortiz Reported Killed.

Laredo, Sept. 11.—Deputy Sheriff Ortiz, captured by alleged ammunition smugglers this morning in a battle near Carrizo Springs, Dimmit county, was killed by them this afternoon, according to advices received here. Sheriff Buck, taken with Ortiz, is said to have been released.

All crossing points along the border are being closely guarded.

Troops Pursue.

Eagle Pass, Sept. 11.—Troops have been requested for the pursuit of the alleged smugglers, who today captured two Dimmit county officers during the battle which ensued when a posse attempted to capture them. Ammunition train moving toward the border.

Lieutenant McLean with a company of cavalry has been sent to the scene. Details of the battle, which occurred between Crystal City and Carrizo Springs, say that one Mexican was killed and another wounded. Sheriff Buck and Deputy Ortiz were captured when the party split and they went ahead to flank the train. When the other party opened fire on the wagon train the two officers were in imminent danger of being shot and at their request the remaining members of the posse retired. The train continued toward the Rio Grande river, apparently headed for Jardin crossing.

TO START SERVICE.

Waxahachie, Tex., Sept. 11.—Officials of the Southern Traction company here this morning announced passenger service will be opened between Dallas and Waco on the new interurban October 1 and between Dallas and Corsicana October 15.

Suits Involving Millions In Mines Filed in St. Louis

St. Louis, Sept. 11.—Stephen Beals of Hopkinton, N. H., filed suit here today for the appointment of receivers for the St. Francis Lead company, the Potosi Mines company and the Potosi Lead, Baryta and Mercantile company. The first operates the Jacob Day mines in St. Francis county, Mo., the second is a $5,000,000 Maine corporation and the third is a million-dollar Missouri concern.

Beals claims that through an intricate system of stock operations, a group of promoters divested the Potosi Mines company, of which he was a stockholder, and the Potosi Lead, Baryta and Mercantile company of the ownership of the Jacob Day mining properties said to be worth about a million dollars.

This property, according to the petition, was transferred to the St. Francis Lead company for 17,500 shares of the latter, par value $10. An additional consideration for the transfer, he claims, was a promise of $25,000 cash and $25,000 a month income derived from the Jacob Day mines.

Beals asks the court to annul the transfer of the Jacob Day Mining company to the St. Francis Lead company on the ground that it was fraudulent.

Adolph Kline, Now Mayor of New York, Prepares to Hold Formal Services.

New York, Sept. 11.—William J. Gaynor, mayor of New York City, voyaging over sea on the steamer Baltic in the hope of regaining his strength to enter the three cornered municipal campaign as a candidate for re-election.

BIOGRAPHY OF GAYNOR.

William Jay Gaynor was born on a farm near Whitestown, N. Y., in 1851. He had to help the family in its struggle for existence and in this fight he had to take time for his own education. He graduated from the Whitestown seminary, went to Boston to teach school and afterwards studied law in the office of Ward Hunt of Utica, who later became a justice of the supreme court of New York. In 1873 young Gaynor went to Brooklyn and became a newspaper reporter. Two years later he was admitted to the bar.

From that moment until his death Gaynor had lived in the midst of continual political warfare. He started it with an attack upon the unlicensed saloons in Flatbush, a section of Brooklyn, and won. Ten years later he led a successful fight against the so-called McLaughlin ring in Brooklyn. His battle against John Y. McKane, boss of Sheepshead Bay and Coney Island, attracted wide national attention. McKane died in Sing Sing. Mr. Gaynor was elected a justice of the supreme court of New York in 1893 on a nomination given him by republicans and independent democrats; was re-elected in 1907, but resigned to accept the nomination of a mayor of New York City, to which he was elected in November, 1909.

His career as mayor of New York bore the imprint of his personality in many striking innovations. As he expressed it: "I never quarreled with the organization leaders because I was too busy. I simply went on and did my work from day to day and I kept my hands out of the public treasury."

tion, died suddenly on the Baltic as the steamer was within a few hundred miles of the Irish coast yesterday afternoon.

The first news of his death, flashed by wireless and relayed by cable from Europe, reached his secretary, Robert Adamson, this morning. The mayor had succumbed to heart failure, the message said.

Later dispatches from his son, Rufus W. Gaynor, who was his father's only traveling companion, gave details which showed that the end had come with shocking suddenness.

"Father died at 1:07 p. m. Wednesday, the tenth," said a message from the son, received by Secretary Adamson tonight. "His death was due to heart failure. He was seated in his deck chair at the time. I and the nurse and the ship's doctor were with him. I discovered him unconscious in his chair, though still alive. He died about three minutes later without recognizing any of us. Everything possible was done but he seemed to go as a candle flickers out. An all right and am trying to arrange to bring the body back on the Lusitania, sailing from Liverpool on Saturday, the 13th."

That the mayor's heart had been in a weakened condition for years was the statement tonight of physicians who treated him at the time he was shot in the neck and almost done to death by an insane discharged employee of the city in August, 1910. They would not declare their belief that the wound inflicted by the bullet had led directly to the end today, but did affirm that his general resistance had been lessened thereby to a very great extent.

Plan Public Funeral.

Plans for a public funeral to be held probably on Monday, September 22, will be made tomorrow by the board of estimate. Late advices from abroad say the body may be transferred from the Baltic to the steamer Cedric, sailing from Queenstown tomorrow, or if that arrangement cannot be effected, to the Lusitania, sailing from Liverpool on Saturday and will arrive in New York Friday or Saturday of next week.

The death of Mayor Gaynor automatically transferred the office of mayor to Col. Adolph L. Kline, a republican, president of the board of aldermen. President Kline took the oath of office late today and his first official act was to call the board of estimate together to lay plans for the public funeral services of his predecessor.

Mayor Kline declared that during his short term of office, which will terminate January 1, 1914, he would carry out the policies of Mayor Gaynor so far as he knew them.

While messages of sympathy from local political leaders and from all parts of the country poured into the mayor's office in the city hall and at the Gaynor country home at St. James, Long Island, the heated municipal campaign came to a sudden stop, although many conferences were held to review the general situation. George McAneny, fusion candidate for president of the board of aldermen, announced late today that he decided to postpone his vacation trip abroad, on which he planned to start Saturday.

McAneny and William Prendergast, fusion nominee for city comptroller, were in conference with Gaynor leaders relative to accepting their endorsement when news of the mayor's death was announced.

Campaign Disorganized.
Whether another candidate would enter the race, the Gaynor League ticket was problematical to-night. It was being urged from many sources that, with the personality of Mayor Gaynor removed it would be useless to continue the league.

Of the many tributes to Mayor Gaynor from men of prominence in public life, one from Theodore Roosevelt was among those made public.

"Mayor Gaynor's career has been not only distinguished, but in all it is unique," said Roosevelt. "We have lost in him not only one of the most fearless but one of the most original and interesting of all our public servants, national and local."

A week before Mayor Gaynor sailed on the Baltic he was visited at his country home at St. James, L. I., by his secretary, Robert Adamson, and Joseph Johnson, fire commissioner. The latter tonight, in speaking of the mayor's condition at that time, quoted him as saying of his illness:

"I coughed all night long. I could not stop it. My right lung was fighting it out with the fishhook in my throat. I don't see how my heart stood it. I thought it would burst. But the doctor now says that I am all right."

GOMPERS WARNS MANUFACTURERS

PRESIDENT OF LABOR FEDERATION SPEAKS AT END OF DAY'S PROBE.

IS NO FEELING FOR LABORERS

Says Conditions Better in Europe. Condemns Sherman Anti-Trust Law Applied to Unions.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, closed his two days' testimony before the house lobby committee tonight with a dramatic warning to the manufacturers of the country, a defense of the legislative activities of the federation and a bitter attack upon the Sherman anti-trust law as applied to labor unions.

Gompers spoke at the end of a day devoted to an inquiry into the political and legislative efforts of the federation.

He began with a statement that in the United States, which has "burst" into industrial life there is no feeling between employer and employee such as is found in European nations, where industrial life has to some extent taken the place of serfdom and of relations between master and man, the product of centuries. In Europe, he said, this transition had been accompanied by deeper feeling for the employee and in consequence those countries were decades ahead of the United States in legislation for the protection of the lives of workmen.

"Lives of workmen count for nothing in the United States," he said. "It seems to me that the life of a horse is of more value than the life of a human being to our manufacturers. If this slaughter does not end, I do not know what our industrial, commercial and political, and particularly, our human life will come to."

The manufacturers of this country, he added, oppose all acts of legislation designed to protect the workman. Reviewing at some length the court decisions against labor organizations under the Sherman act, the witness said:

"The federation exists at the sufferance of an administration. Under the Sherman law and the procedure of the courts, the normal activity of the federation in the exercise of power—no more than the individual exercises any day—is restrained and threefold damages can be claimed and obtained."

Law Asks.
"It seems to me that the law is a bit askew or otherwise it would not permit such a thing," he added with a shake of his head.

The witness testified he had recommended to the house committee on committees the appointment of either Representative Lewis of Maryland or Representative Buchanan of Illinois as chairman of the labor committee. Lewis was appointed, he said, although not the highest man on the list.

He was asked at length about Martin H. Mulhall's effort to get the federation to print his now famous letters, and about his relations with Representative McDermott, one of the men involved by Mulhall. Gompers said McDermott had been most insistent that he take up the Mulhall letters, but he feared at that time that Mulhall's supposed repentance was not genuine and only a ruse to get the federation into the riches of the manufacturers' association.

Mr. Gompers added to yesterday's testimony by stating that the federation spent about $1500 in its campaign against the re-election of former Representative Charles E. Littlefield of Maine in 1906. The lobbying done by the federation, he thought, was justified and in the open.

With the testimony of Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation, at a night session, the committee concluded its investigation of "the labor lobby." Tomorrow it expects to hear from former Representative James E. Watson of Indiana, a central figure in the Mulhall exposure.

calling on the provisional president, asked him what he intended to do.

General Huerta smiled and replied that one of his eyes had been troubling him greatly of late. Then he laughed and added if that eye became worse, he might have to leave the country and undergo an operation some time early in October. As a matter of fact, General Huerta underwent an operation for cataract several months ago.

The other story was told recently at a dinner party. An Englishman present quoted General Huerta as saying: "Well, it is quite possible that by the end of the week or soon after I shall no longer be president."

According to many persons who recently have come to Vera Cruz from the capital the impression is growing there that General Huerta soon will withdraw from the presidency. The majority of them incline to the belief that he will enter the electoral race; others that he will follow General Porfirio Diaz to Europe.

NEW EARTH FORCE HELPS ALL TEXAS

Demand for Energized Volcanic Fluid Pours in From Every where.

Throughout all Texas sick and ailing people are finding unexpected relief in the new energized earth fluid known as Vitalitas. Its effects upon the human system where there is impotency or disease are marvelous and unequalled by any other Nature product known to science. In many cases of chronic ailment it gives relief and cure after treatment by skilled physicians and the best known man-made medicines have failed. People who had despaired of earthly help have found new vigor and a quick return to health by the use of Vitalitas.

Upon healthy tissue it has little or no effect. It is like the acid test for gold. Where the gold is pure the acid is passive, but if there are impurities it singles them out and begins their annihilation. A perfectly healthy and normal person will benefit from an occasional dose of Vitalitas for it will add to their vitality and make them more than ever disease resisting.

Those who suffer derangements of the vital organs such as indigestion, biliousness, rheumatism, debility, impotency, catarrh, disorders of liver, kidneys, bowels and blood will find great benefit and cure in this new fluid. A child or delicate invalid may take it. Do not despair if you have not used Vitalitas. You can get it at the Powers-Kelly Drug Co.

SENATE PROBES MINES

WEST VIRGINIA OPERATORS ATTEMPT TO PROVE CONSPIRACY ON PART OF MINERS.

Claim Effort Was Made to Keep Cheap Coal Off the Market.

Washington, Sept. 11.—West Virginia coal operators today continued their efforts to prove to the senate investigation committee that the United Mine Workers of America had conspired with Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and West Pennsylvania coal operators to unionize West Virginia mines and eliminate "cheap coal" from the markets.

Operators testified that during the last few years they had sold coal for the great lakes trade at cost, or at a loss for the purpose of keeping their mines running the year round.

Then their attorneys put into the record what they claimed was evidence that the operators in the competing states sought to eliminate West Virginia coal from the middle western markets by granting higher wages to the United Mine Workers on the condition that the West Virginia mines should be unionized. This included the statement of delegates to a joint conference of competing state operators and United Mine Workers, in Cleveland in April, 1912, to the effect that the miners must unionize West Virginia before they could expect further increases in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois.

Ever since the attorneys put into the record the opinion of Judge Dayton in the Hittman coal company case heard at Wheeling, West Virginia, holding the United Mine Workers to be in an unlawful conspiracy to drive West Virginia coal out of central markets.

IS NO BAR TO PROSECUTION

Release of Guards in Convict Death Cases Does Not Make Them Immune.

Austin, Sept. 11.—The release of Sergeant Wheeler and Guards Fain and Stewart from custody by Justice of the Peace Fenn at Richmond does not necessarily bar any further prosecution against them, according to Assistant Attorney General G. A. Sweetser, who returned today from Richmond, where he has been assisting County Attorney Pearson in the prosecution of these cases.

These are the three men who had been held as being responsible for the death of the eight convicts in the dark cell tragedy. Mr. Sweetser said that the grand jury is empowered to make an investigation but he could not say at present whether or not anything further would be done.

Mistake in Bodies.
Paris, Tex., Sept. 11.—A mistake has been made in shipping the bodies of the negro convicts suffocated at the Harlem farm Saturday night, according to the mother of the convict, Brandt, who came here from Sherman to receive her son's body. It was the body of another negro, she declares and demands that of her son. The authorities are investigating the mistake.

After observations for more than twenty years a French scientist has decided that pigeons and some other birds and animals find their way home from distant points by the aid of a sense of magnetism, which human beings lack.

NEW HAVEN QUIZ TO BE PRIVATE

HEARING IS TO DETERMINE DEPRECIATION OF THE ROAD.

WANT $67,000,000 BONDS

Massachusetts Public Service Commission Will Have Accountants Probe Reports.

Boston, Sept. 11.—After a day spent in discussing the question of what constituted a reasonable charge for depreciation in the equipment of a railroad as applicable to the petition of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad for the approval of a $67,000,000 bond issue, the Massachusetts public service commission announced today that the examinations of the accounts of the road would be conducted in private.

The hearing will go on tomorrow when those objecting to the bond issue will be heard, after which it is expected that public sessions will be suspended until expert accountants are ready with their figures.

Vice President Kochersperger virtually was the only witness of the day as the remarks of Joseph H. O'Neill, president of the Federal Trust company of Boston in support of the bond issue were brief. Mr. Kochersperger outlined the purpose to which the company would apply the money, including large expenditures along the short line. He said that the $67,000,000 would be hardly sufficient to carry out all of the companies' plans for placing the road in first class shape and that several millions more would be required.

The retirement of Charles B. Mellen as president of the road, and the commissions paid to J. P. Morgan and company for handling its bond issues were other subjects in connection with the history of the New Haven which came to the surface after the hearing had adjourned.

Mellen's Retirement.
Definite assertion that the stockholders' protective committee was largely instrumental in bringing about the retirement of Mr. Mellen was made by Geo. Von L. Meyer, former secretary of the navy and chairman of the committee.

The organization which Mr. Mellen had maintained, Mr. Meyer characterized as impracticable, saying that he kept up the same sort of plan as before his capital had become crippled.

Mr. Meyer claimed also that one man could not handle so vast a system as the entire New Haven with its two complete railroads, trolleys and its steamship lines.

The Morgan commission feature came from another source. According to H. H. Morgan of J. P. Morgan & Co., New York, the New Haven railroad has obtained for the New York, New Haven and Hartford, Boston and Maine and the Maine Central railroads for refunding and other purposes a total of $148,637,000 since November 17, 1910, on which commissions of $189,468 have been paid by the companies.

The total profit to the Morgan firms in this country and abroad was $661,000, the remainder of the commission having been paid to other firms.

On the proposed issue of $67,653,000 debentures for which the New Haven railroad is seeking authority, J. P. Morgan and company estimate their total possible profit at $212,587, or approximately three-tenths of one per cent.

A photograph printing frame has been invented which enables an amateur to surround a portrait with a tint and a margin of white paper, producing an artistic effect heretofore the exclusive property of professionals.

BODY IS IDENTIFIED JAPS DEMAND A PUBLIC APOLOGY

FOUND IN PIECES BELIEVED TO BE MRS. CASPAR JANIN OF SPAIN.

Man Bought as Murderer Escapes and Sails for Cuba—Name is Withheld.

New York, Sept. 11.—With the identification today of portions of the body found in the Hudson river as that of Mrs. Caspar Janin, who, according to her husband, left their home in Barcelona, Spain, three years ago, search has begun for the proprietor of a West 14th street establishment where the woman had apartments. At a late hour tonight the police reported that their search had been futile. It is stated, however, that a man answering his description sailed for Cuba last Saturday. His name is withheld.

Janin visited the morgue late today. Marks on the back of the body, which he said were birthmarks, made Janin positive that the dismembered parts were those of his wife. According to the man's story, Mrs. Janin disappeared from their home in Spain three years ago and he came to New York in search of her. Finally, he said, he found her in West 14th street. She disappeared from that location August 14.

Janin asserts that the woman's mother had similar marks on her back and the same mark appeared on the shoulder of their six year old child.

The human leg found yesterday was brought to the morgue in Hoboken today and fitted to the hip joint. The union was found to be perfect.

"We are finding the body in pieces," said one of the physicians at the morgue tonight, "and I do not think it will be long before we have enough of it put together to establish identification beyond any doubt."

MISS HARRIETT MORSE FOR MISS MARIAN MULLEN'S
This morning in the apartment of Mrs. Carter in San Antonio, Miss Harriett Morse is hostess at bridge for Miss Marian Mullens of Fort Worth, who is visiting Miss Stella Lacy.

COLUMBUS BAPTIST AID TO MEET THIS AFTERNOON
The members of the Columbus Street Baptist Aid are requested especially to be present in the church parlors this afternoon. The assembly hour is 4:30. Mrs. R. B. Spencer will be leader of the Bible study.

MISS LUCY MAY JOHNSON HAS RETURNED HOME
After a summer of continuous travel through Texas, Miss Lucy May Johnson is again at the Kyle for the winter. Miss Johnson reports great success in her work, that of securing pupils for Lennox Hall, St. Louis. Mrs. J. D. Thomas, in whom Waco's interest still abides, is prosperous with her school at University City. In all, including Shreveport, Texas will have fifteen girls in Lennox Hall during the coming year.

THE INTERURBAN MAGAZINE AND MISS EVELYN FREEDMAN
The last Interurban Magazine has the following in reference to the Dallas story of Miss Evelyn Freedman: "We print in this issue of the magazine 'Waco's Affinity,' from the pen of Miss Evelyn Freedman of Waco. Miss Freedman's stories are well known to her many admirers, and they will be glad to learn that this story is being handled by one of the largest magazine syndicates in the east. We congratulate Miss Freedman as well as ourselves on being able to reproduce her work here, and predict for her a bright future in the literary field."

GURLEY MOTHERS' CLUB HAS RESUMED ACTIVITY
About twelve mothers in the Gurley school neighborhood are watching with real interest the development of their school. These teachers are now engaged and improvements made at frequent intervals. The mothers who form the mothers' club have caught the social center idea and are endeavoring to add books, with other features to the building. They are the first among the Waco women to report a resumption of work. Tonight the mothers will be at home on the school grounds and they hope to see, not only all the patrons of the school, but to welcome friends who drive out from the city.

MISS LUCILE DURHAM ENTERTAINS CLUB FRIENDS
Among the pupils who compose the several classes of Miss Lucile R. Ferguson has been formed a congenial club. Miss Lucile Durham of West Bernard is a member, so is Miss Anne Lee Duncan, who is leaving with Monday to enter Saint Mary's, Dallas. This it came that Miss Durham was hostess to the club and a few other friends on Wednesday evening. The home, quite commanding in appearance, was beautifully decorated. The several instruments used in Miss Ferguson's classes were used for the musical program. In addition there had been arranged a romance to be told by supplying titles of songs. Miss Flora Lee McCullough took the head prize. Other features were introduced to make this an affair to Miss Durham as well as this courtesy from Miss Durham to her club an evening of pleasure.

MRS. PHILIP CALDWELL GIVEN GLAD SURPRISE
Out in the Waco Vista neighborhood no matron is more popular than is Mrs. Philip Caldwell. Somehow, it became known that the date of Mrs. Caldwell's wedding anniversary was at hand, and that she had been married twenty years. The matrimonial calendar was consulted to find that this was the patron for such an event. Thus the neighbors selected a handsome set, and with it showered their friend. This was all a surprise to Mrs. Caldwell. Mrs. Fred Kingsbury offered her home for the gathering of the twenty or more neighbors. They arranged for an express wagon, and Phil Caldwell, Jr., with Watt Seales, were the boys to make the delivery. Mrs. Caldwell was both surprised and appreciative. Mrs. Kingsbury had arranged a pretty reception table, and refreshments were ready, so the afternoon took the turn of a conventional at home in honor of a bride of twenty years.

A HOME WELCOME GIVEN BY MISS MARY ALLEN
One of the pleasant incidents to the many arrivals at home has been a welcome from Miss Mary Allen of Vermont avenue to Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Herrick. This gathering by the invitation of Miss Allen, a very cordial company. The hostess exercised her ingenuity into a pleasing program. She was assisted by the sisters, the Misses Pyrene and Annie Allen, also Mrs. Robert Allen. The first pleasure in the greeting of the guests was Mrs. Herrick was a game of buncle. The leading score showed rivals for the game favor. These were Miss Kesler and Mr. Herrick, who gallantly withdrew and left Miss Kesler in possession of a pretty little septa print. Mrs. C. A. Sherrin was crowned for low score. Old-fashioned games on the lawn, with refreshments, were other features in the enjoyment. Miss Allen had dressed her company rooms with cut flowers and an attractive setting of growing plants. Her guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Herrick, J. W. Orand, C. A. Sherman, J. C. Dillard and J. D. Nash, with Misses Hart, Andrews and Kesler.

THE MARY WEST CHAPTER PAYS TRIBUTE TO FOUNDER
The founder of the Daughters of the Confederacy is annually honored. This is the late Mrs. Goodlett. On Wednesday afternoon the tribute to her work and her memory was given in the parlors of Mrs. W. W. Lastinger, historian of the Mary West chapter, and hostess by special invitation. Papers concerning Mrs. Goodlett were read by the Mesdames Araminta Branson and R. J. Alexander. The piano and voice numbers of the program were given by Mrs. R. F. Dancer and Mrs. L. A. Brooks, the entire chapter joining in "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." Mrs. Lastinger presided, since Mrs. Lastinger, the chapter president, is still in Chicago. Mrs. W. H. Forrester, president, was welcomed from her extended absence in the east. The principal business was the selection of delegates to the state convention. These were delegates, the Mesdames R. J. Branson, C. N. Smith and Edith Lastinger. The alternates are the Mesdames T. Jeff Smith, J. F. Cason, J. B. Holloway, W. H. Forrester and Phillips. The convention holds the last week. The convention in San Antonio, Mrs. Lastinger welcomed her guests into attractive parlors, and offered refreshments during the social session. Among the out-of-town daughters present were Mrs. Genie Shepherd Lee from the McGregor chapter.

MANY WOMEN PAY TRIBUTE TO WALLER S. BAKER
Never before has the woman's scribe paused to pay tribute to a man. This is rather for the business, the professional and, to some degree, the social life of the average man. But the life of Waller Baker touched peculiarly the life of the women of Waco. All through the day which brought the distressing news one woman was telling another something which this truly benevolent man had done to some member of her family. One, in a humble home, with tears in her eyes, said, "No one knows how good he was to my fatherless boy." Another, in a rooming house, told her friends, "No one but myself and my girls knows how thoughtful he was to us in our sorrow, and how he relieved us." The writer happens to know that, when he left his office every Saturday night, Mr. Baker looked up the legless girl who sells pencils on our streets, and bought out the last of her supply, thus sending her home to a peaceful Sabbath with the pennies for bread. Truly Mr. Baker's was the life lived for his fellow man, and this broadened into his sympathy for women. Many a girl has a better education because of Mr. Baker's financial aid; many a girl is self-sustaining in business because he made it possible for her to become so. But it was not always dollars. This man's heart beat in sympathy with the women who confided in him. It is said that, whatever the need, go to Shakspeare and there will be found a line appropriate to the character. Is not this too true when we say of Waller Baker, "He had a tear for pity and a hand open as day for melting charity?"

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD ROTAN AT BAR HARBOR, MAINE
Interesting cards have come from Mrs. Edward Rotan. These, in addition to the inquiry they are an unexplored country for the Wacoans spoke of running away for a week from the Massachusetts cottage to visit Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Peterson in their summer home on Mt. Desert, along the Maine coast. The cards show the variety of pleasant scene in this far north retreat. Mrs. Rotan writes that they have been literally jogging along, since not an automobile is allowed on the island. The Petersons chose for their summer retreat a combination of mountain, sea and woodland. They are entertaining a series of house parties, principally guests of the "arriving" daughter, Miss Fredricka, who is upon the threshold of young ladyhood. One view is a reminder of the famous Italian lakes; another is just as suggestive of the wilds of the Black Forest; a third shows the yachts by moonlight anchored against the shore. Two picturesque little churches are included. And then is the kodak of Miss Peterson with some of her guests. Aside from the personal interest, it is a glimpse into a hitherto unknown world for our Waco summer travelers. But Mrs. Rotan's cards are not only a reminder of the past, but a promise of the future. Mrs. Rotan has been thereabouts this season. So, it is a note worth the passing thought. But, broader is the thought, that, gradually this wonderful country is coming into its own. The time is coming when the European plans will come to return our visits. Instead of the thousand touring the Old Country, it will be thousands coming to the New. We have as grand, as varied, and just as much scenery as the old world, and in the heart of Italy. Only, it has not become known and appreciated. And, right here in our own Texas, we can surpass those world-famed sunsets in Italy. Again, we can surpass a sunrise on Rigi any morning.

Society Notes.

No sooner was the announcement of her coming wedding made than friends of Miss Mary Herring bespoke her for social courtesies. Miss Herring is declining these, owing to the recent bereavement in both her and her fiancé's families. With Monday Mrs. D. S. Eldins is returning from Hewett. She will be with Mrs. John Mankum, Eighth and Columbus streets. One woman who has no patience with all this silt and low throat fashion, remarks that it looks to her as though the women are shielding nothing from the gaze of man except their ears. These are still modestly covered. If you are to have new shades this season, the furniture man insists that you must hang them within the window frame. Have you decided to keep to the right when you drive, when you walk down the sidewalk, and when you are in the aisle of the shop? If you have, you are along with the city builders of Waco.

What's in a name, says Shakspeare. One judges there is a good deal after reading the following: "Will Verkinghousensteinhou sen bougenklatzer." This is truly a Waco man, and what is more, Dame Rumor says he is a bachelor. If there be distinction in a name, here is a chance for some autumn bride. Does it not seem good to see the old familiar faces in the shops? The absentees are rolling in at a rapid rate these cooler days. The Mesdames Homer Wilson and Fred Mayer have found the last abiding place in Virginia so delightful they are prolonging their stay. A visit to Washington City and a stop in Missouri will complete their trip. The Mesdames Meyer and Wilson are not expected at home until late in October.

Do not grow restive about The Morning News Society Calendar. This will come just as soon as hostesses and clubs are declared. The women agree that this is not only a matter of interest each morning, but it is a matter of great convenience. It is a mutual interest between Marlin and Waco over the Friedlander-Davidson wedding next Thursday evening. Of course Waco will be well represented among the wedding guests. After all, we stay at homes have not had a bad summer, have we? Take a day off, get a standard book on social form, and read a few paragraphs. Some of you will find a few things you do not know. We are so pleased that the Texas press is paying such general compliment to the Waco labor men for excluding the suggestive dances from their ballroom floor. The compliments are deserved. Mrs. Wosnig, chairman of the German booth in the women's department for the Cotton Palace, has her committee organized, and is already working out her plans. These plans Mrs. Wosnig will keep quiet so that the booth may carry surprise as well as admiration. Your maid and your nurse girl shall wear wash fabric when on duty. The woolen cloth is a number one germ carrier. We hear of one woman who appeared at her summer home with a mail, a footman, and one or two other attaches, we forget what their duties were. One woman and five servants in addition to the regular hotel service. Would you not hate to have been that woman?

The guest towel is now called the hand piece. Why we do not know, but that is the way the fashion book refers to it. By the way, that same fashion book says it is permissible to put all the embroidery we desire upon this "hand" towel, but that the regular face towel must be satisfied with the initial or the monogram at most. Never mind about the leaves now, for, gather these of today, and there will be more tomorrow. But, once or twice during the shedding period, let us give them a sort of treatment. We can not all rise to the sentiment of Bryant, who grew poetic upon this act of nature. Perhaps Bryant did not encounter one good play of wind which filled veranda, walks, and lawn with trash.

Courtesy is in order, even in the come and go moving picture show. It is hoped that prospective guests for the Cotton Palace will all be reported promptly to The Morning News. This may seem premature, but it is not. It will stimulate others to send out invitations, and thus create a social flurry for our exposition season. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen with Shepard Allen took passage on Wednesday from North Dakota for Waco. They have visited as far north as Winnipeg, Canada. In reaching Dallas Mrs. Allen remains a day or two before coming to reopen her home on Abel Place. Mrs. Robert Allen is among the Waco matrons to have a new home this season. This is about finished on North Sixteenth street. Mrs. H. K. Brewer will drive her handsome new car over to Dallas on Saturday. This is to accompany Miss Clarence Bruce Brewer for her second year in Saint Mary's Dallas.

FARMER IS GETTING MORE.

Producer Has Better Prices For His Crop Output.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Back to the farm the department of agriculture has traced some of the responsibility for the present high cost of living. In a report issued today the department sets forth that the prices paid the farmers for their products were more, with few exceptions, on September 1 than they received last year at this time. Among the more important articles of food which showed slight increases were:

Potatoes, 10.3 cents a bushel.
Butter, 17 cents a pound.
Chickens, 1.1 cents a pound.
Eggs, .04 cents a dozen.
Oats increased .43 cents a bushel.
Barley, 1.7 cents.
Cotton, 1.15 cents a pound.
The price of wheat declined .82c; flax 34.8c; rye 7.8c; buckwheat 6.6c; and hay 25c a ton.

The farmer also received more for the meats he produced, except lamb, on August 15 this year than he did at the same time last year.

Hogs increased 68 cents a hundred pounds; beefs 53 cents, veal 91 cents, and sheep 6 cents. The price of lambs decreased 20 cents a hundred weight. Horses increased $1 a head, while milk cows increased $8.70 each.

Experiments with aerial propellers for light boats indicate that they may be more efficient than marine ones under favorable conditions.

8 Husband and Wife Shot.

Sedalia, Mo., Sept. 11.—Making pistol targets of each other, William Evans, a restaurant keeper, was killed and his wife was fatally wounded here today. Witnesses declared Mrs. Evans, said to have been jealous, called her husband from a rooming house and began shooting.

TRAVELING AGENTS.
Following are the traveling agents of The News who are authorized to solicit and receipt for subscriptions, advertising, etc.: W. W. Lewis, F. E. Long, W. H. Byrd.

FAR "BELOW."

Weekly we are being favored, unsolicited, with a little sheet out of New York City that has these words, which we take as its name, above the front page picture: "Below the Rio Grande." This legend is rubber-stamped over the name: "Editors: This is forwarded to you in advance in order that you may publish any part of its contents you desire simultaneously with its appearance in New York." It may or may not be our ingratitude that we have no desire to publish any part of "Below the Rio Grande's" contents. The publication owns Dr. L. L. Pardo its managing editor and Polyglot Publishing Company its immediate cause for being. Its contents considered, "Polyglot" is good. There is, indeed, some statistical matter concerning Brazil and South American seaport-republics, ever and anon, but the object, purpose or design of the little print is to boost Huerta's game—putting things in plain slang. Occasionally it has lauded the passing Henry Lane Wilson; occasionally Huerta, then his friends and closest fighters, have been praised. An example: The issue of September 8 has a front page cut of the government palace in Mexico City, supplied by a news service, before which are assembled some thousands of people, and this is the line thereunder: "Demonstration in favor of President Huerta before Mr. Lind arrived in Mexico. This picture proves that the present government has the support of all classes." As Mr. Montague Glass would say, "S'neugh!" "President" Huerta; "Support of all classes" because of the assembling of a handful of the population of the entire land, dependable reports to the contrary notwithstanding, is as far as we care to read to gauge the motive and motif of this voluntary contribution to American exchange tables.

We will continue to look over and courteously give thanks for "Below the Rio Grande," the while cleaving to our proved estimate of Huerta, which we fancy is very like the esteemed Dr. Pardo's opinion of Governor Carranza.

"CRYPTIC," PERHAPS.

When Senor Manuel Zamacona, former ambassador for Mexico to this country and reported to be Huerta's personal envoy to Washington—as Mr. Lind was Mr. Wilson's personal representative to the Huerta control—was interviewed in Washington Thursday, the correspondents sent this out to the country's newspapers:

"A beggar has nothing to give," was his cryptic response to questions..... He did not reveal the character of his mission. He maintained that he had come to the United States on 'private business.'"

It was to be expected the Mexican negotiator would deny the real nature of his mission, or, at best, attempt to mist it and mystify the newspaper men. In Mexico City, with the press operated by the seal and surveillance method, such tactics on the part of public men are considered the height of cleverness and diplomatic good form. Sr. Zamacona may consider his presence in the United States his diplomatic status. Why he is here has been well understood since it was first reported from his capital that he was coming. Nor is it difficult to arrive at the nature of his "begging" in New York City or elsewhere in this country.

But the reply of Huerta's man to Washington reporters may not be so "cryptic," after all. Taken in connection with reports from Mexico that Huerta and his "ministry" are bestirring themselves to comply with our government's demands of protection for foreigners; that Urrutia is urging the Huerta governors to keep down anti-foreigner demonstrations during the week's celebration of Independence Day, this month; that Mr. Lind may not treat in vain if he treats with Huerta and Gamboa a second time, are some indication that Huerta may be beginning to realize he carried his bluff rather too far. In connection with Urrutia's plea, it is reported Huerta expressed his desire further to "demonstrate our culture and respect for the subjects of friendly nations and that we entertain for them a fraternal regard which is demanded by reason of the justice that always governs the acts of the Mexican people and the republic." Whereat, especially as this is from Huerta, intelligent readers in every civilized land who know their Mexico may not only be permitted a smile of real amusement but a nearly genteel snigger. Still, it may be Huerta already is "coming to time."

Verily Mexico, and Huerta's agent to treat with Messrs. Wilson and Bryan, are "beggars" insofar as concerns the value of what they may receive compared with what they may have to give in our president's plans for peace in the neighbor land. It will be well for Mexico if Zamacona's reply has this meaning: If it represents Huerta's chastened mood, Mexico has nothing to give, and much to suffer if she refuses to receive.

SAFETY LAST.

We are no fairer to the railroads than we are to any other business, corporation and individual—and we have at all times endeavored to be fair to the railroads, as our columns attest; realizing quite how indispensable the railroads are in the enriching of old country and the developing of new. We have a fair understanding of their responsibilities, the vastness of their service and the weight of their problem. None more than we has given commendation for every generous, salutary reform the roads have projected to their own betterment and the public's interest. We were, and are, hearty in our applause of the "safety first" movement, from the first hour of public advocacy of this, to and through the time the president of the Baltimore and Ohio system made this the chief feature of his last annual report and address.

We may remind that when the report of the investigation of another of the New Haven road's fearful wrecks—that at Stamford, Conn., on June 12—came out of Bridgeport and gave the country again to try to believe that neither the road nor any of its employees in the wreck or out of it, was responsible for the disaster, with most of the country and very nearly all of its press we raised eyebrows and shook our heads in incredulity. And, anticipating much the same sort of business in the report of the horror of September 2 on the same road; remembering this road's record for such occurrences in the two years past, we see little use in awaiting the report of the September 2 matter, from the road itself, at least, for the purpose of gleaming any real facts as to responsibility in the operation of the trains.

So, while the public in this land will be glad if the Massachusetts public service commission permits the New Haven its requested big issue of bonds out of which it may use some 7 millions of dollars to bring about, after many seasons of wrecks, some measure of safety for its passengers, the public has no reason to render praise for this proposition and request. Mr. Howard Elliott, president of this system, told the commission that he pursued spending 7 millions of this issue "immediately for the safety of the traveling public. It will be spent for steel cars, revision of our signal system and other like purposes."

Referring to our quotation from the Engineering Record, we are quite willing to agree that most of the roads are performing not only the "desirable," but the imperative service of installing better signal systems and substituting steel for wooden cars "as rapidly as the financial system will allow," and that to force the roads into more rapid changes likely will aggravate the financial troubles with which they are afflicted. We try, we say, to be fair, but assuredly we must conclude that Mr. Elliott's statement to the Massachusetts commission is tantamount to an admission that the New Haven has not given time, needed money and thought to rendering its lines passably safe for the traveling public. Nor do we think it can, or should, stop at the 7-million mark in expenditures for this gravely needed remedy if more money is demanded in supplying safe cars and safety devices that will work. It is to remind that the New Haven has been running on a "safety last," false economy policy if the fatalities of the past few seasons, in their apparently negligent nature, are to be taken as criteria.

Controversy as to the real cause has usually followed serious railroad wrecks. However, says the Engineering Record, in the disaster on the New Haven on September 2, in which twenty-one persons were killed and fifty hurt, we have the engineer's word that fog prevented him from seeing a stop signal until too late to avoid collision. It is but another evidence of the lax management and poor discipline to which are attributable the long series of New Haven disasters. Individual accidents can be explained by specific causes, but underlying all are these fundamental disorders. It is not unlikely that the troubles of this one road may be the means of saddling upon the railroads in general enormous burdens for improved signaling and steel coaches. Legislators may refuse to consider that thousands of passengers daily ride in safety in wooden coaches under present signaling methods. They may not recognize that discipline is a greater safety device than elaborate signaling system or a non-collapseable coach. It may be that the courts would stop legislation of a confiscatory nature even though the laws were framed to insure greater safety. Undoubtedly the installation of better signaling and the substitution of steel for wooden cars are desirable. Both are being done on most roads as rapidly as the financial situation will allow. To force the roads into more rapid changes will likely aggravate the financial troubles with which they are afflicted.

LET WACO AND McLENNAN SHARE.

Mr. E. L. Ferguson, a young man who has attained to national reputation as an expert in designating good roads systems and routes for motor car travel over the continent, will be in Waco today with a party of newspaper men. He is demonstrating, and this is the Texas stage of his tour, a southern transcontinental route for motoring and other travel, from Atlanta to Los Angeles, already chosen by him is suitable for motor travel all the year 'round. He and his demonstration represent, and the newspaper men with him serve, the Houston Post, the Dallas Times Herald, the Birmingham News, the Montgomery Advertiser and the New Orleans Item. These live newspapers are co-operating with and paying for this stage of the valuable work Mr. Ferguson has undertaken.

If the promoters of a railroad make up their minds to send their line through a town, nothing can keep them out the way our American law is written. The right of eminent domain in railroad building is a tremendous right. If the promoters of a system of good roads, the promoters of a transcountry highway for trade and pleasure travel, desire to go through a town and its county there are many ways in which the citizens can keep them out of the town and county. And the effective way is refusal to co-operate, or indifference to co-operation, in making the community's and the county's road fit to be a part of a national highway available for motor vehicle travel at all times.

As we have so often pointed out, Waco is at the junction of the several splendid, long distance crosscountry highways projected by Texas and interstate and even national good roads associations and conventions. Waco will be served by the southern transcontinental route Mr. Ferguson is indicating now, if Waco desires this service. Waco will be benefited in its hotels, its shops, its plans of attracting investors and home-seekers, by the touring parties that will come here through the year over such an highway, only if Waco desires this benefit.

In the making of such an highway every town, every county, before it can participate in the benefits must build its own right of way. That is, it must make its roads that are to be pieced into the highway, fit for this dignity and service. It must make its roads fit to be on a transcontinental line. Waco and McLennan county property owners and business men today are in better position to determine they will have their roads a piece of the southern route for motoring and vehicle travel generally, from Georgia to California than they have ever been. Their county's road law is the best in its history; they have an expert road engineer as county road superintendent. If his announced plans for bettering every highway in the county have the co-operation he has requested of the county's dwellers, in a few years McLennan's road system will be among the State's best.

But this enterprise is very much "up to" Waco and McLennan. Let it be given careful thought. Let Mr. Ferguson and his associates be well received here today and what they have to say be heeded. We must build our own road "right of way" if we are to join in this great project and in every other project of crosscountry road travel that has already named Waco and McLennan as beneficiaries.

It is announced the educational committee of the Waco Ad club is arranging for a phase of the club's activity "that will help educate the consumer," the buyer. A part of this plan will be the issuance of an address to every purchaser in the city noting the advantages that will accrue to the purchaser by patronizing merchants who advertise, the general benefit of advertising to the public, "the wisdom and safety" of buying advertised goods chiefly. If the educational committee succeeds with this project it will be effecting genuine education of the average shopper and householder. Since advertising began to be variously an exact science and a fine art the fact has been recognized and emphasized that the merchant, the manufacturer, the theatre manager, the public utility corporation, the broker, the banker and the provider of paid outdoor recreation could make no stronger bid for confidence and custom than by telling the public exactly the nature of the goods, the trades, the amusements they had to offer. There is no better method of assuring honest dealing. And the advertiser is worthy the public's patronage. He is doing business in the open. He has nothing to cover. The Waco Ad club will be doing excellent service in any work it may undertake that will result in giving the advertiser value received for the money he expends in advertising, even as in the average instance the purchaser gets the worth of his money in advertised goods.

Thirteen years ago that order of electrical engineers and workers known as the Sons of Jove was founded in Waco—assertion to a different effect from the pen of Mr. Elbert Hubbard, notwithstanding. Now there are more than thirteen thousands of members throughout the North American continent and upper Central America. As has been variously punned, paraphrased and cartooned in many a newspaper over the country, the Sons of Jove know full well how to have a jovial time. Wednesday's "Return to Olympus" in Waco—rather, the return to Olympus or Waco—was no exception to the order's immutable rule of a good time, recreation and fellowship. Waco Jovians are to be commended for their pleasurable hospitality. Their fellows from St. Louis, Chicago, Dallas, San Antonio, Austin, Kansas City, Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, and many another town in Texas and elsewhere will come again. Like all workmen who are so good they are indispensable to the community, they know how to value these days off.

Central Texas has called it the "Waco Interurban" since it first became known the Dallas-Waxahachie line would be run south to this city. And the "Waco Interurban" it will remain, from Waco to Waxahachie at least, if not from Waco to Dallas. Cars for the Waco Interurban's beginning, next month, are waiting in Hillsboro. The finishing strokes are being given the line into the city. Countryside and communities north to and through Hillsboro are preparing to celebrate the operating of the first car even as the beginning of so important an era to this territory should be celebrated. And now the plans and enthusiasm for the Waco-Temple line are growing rapidly. McLennan and Bell counties' towns want this great convenience. Temple, Eddy, Troy, Lorena and other thriving communities are responding and will respond loyally. Waco is entering its Interurban road period of development and splendor will be that development.

Thaw was denied refuge, sanctuary in Canada. The denial was by due process of law. The denial was followed by hustling physical deportation. Thaw is under arrest in New Hampshire. The astute Jerome is endeavoring to return him to Matteawan. The Dominion wanted no escapes from an asylum for the criminal insane; none blames the Dominion for that. Thaw is having merely another round of retaining lawyers and getting arrested. When Thaw escaped from New York's clutch we expressed the opinion the majority of people in the land would be glad of it. We have not changed our view, but we think Thaw is losing a deal of popular sympathy by these manoeuvres—by failing to make good his dash for freedom by moving toward real freedom.

The prompt, glowing but genuinely grieved eulogia of Texas Press on the late Hon. Waller S. Baker is certain testimony of the esteem and affection that was felt in many parts of the State for this man of unselfishness and charity. It is only in the day or two since Senator Baker's death in San Francisco that there has become known to some of his friends in the city in which his was a pioneer family, the quiet, strong kindness of this man to young men who were ambitious to rise and who went to Senator Baker for assistance and advice. In private life, as in political activity and service to his State, Senator Baker put self very much in the background. "This was a good man, surely," and that which the press of his State is bringing in tribute is deserved to the last period.

The cotton remains in the boll. The earth is glad. The city is cooled and refreshed. All reports from the towns of this region are that Central Texas, as usual, fared better in the blessing of rain than did other sections. There was no heavy, driving downpour in Central Texas. There was steady, soaking rain that "livened all the earth and enriched all the fields—rain that was longed for through more than a month. In the city yesterday was general satisfaction for the rainfall; those from the county had good news of the crop. In these parts there is usually assurance that relief from the heavens will not be too long delayed.

Congratulations to the Hon. John H. Kirby of Houston, unanimously elected, in St. Louis, to be Snark of the Universe, or chief executive of the big Concatenated Order of Hoo Hoo, the national fraternal order of lumbermen. That is an honor as rare as the title's sound and this eminent Texan's record in the lumber world of all the nation gives him thorough claim to the honor. Hoo Hoo knows John H. Kirby so well there could be no question of other than an election by the voice of every member of the live convention. Texas is glad of the bestowal of this honor on one of its most celebrated citizens.

Waco and the Morning News

Colquitt, Campbell, Brooks.
Fort Worth Record: Three hats have been shied in the senatorial ring. Samuel Palmer Brooks has turned a deaf ear to the entreaties of powerful friends to enter the race for governor in 1914. The toga of a senator appeals to him and he is ready to measure lances with Oscar B. Colquitt, whose hat was thrown in the arena early in July. Thomas M. Campbell is the other hat thrower. He considers that the senatorial magic zone revolves around Palestine and is ready for the fray. Dr. Brooks has made a prediction. He believes that Colquitt will lead in the first race and that the president of Baylor university will lead in the second and take down the prize. The "white man's political burden" will be a heavy one in the campaign of 1914. On with the battle.

We do not wish Baylor university any harm, through the loss of so strong a man, but of the three mentioned there can be no doubt but Dr. Brooks would cut the biggest figure in national and international affairs. He is neither a straddler nor a politician, but a broad, brainy man, towering as high above his opponents in the race as Pike's Peak above Hall's hill.—Marshall Messenger.

Mary Jane's Prescription.
There are thousands of men in Texas who are abusing the legislature and criticizing its acts who will go to the polls next July and vote for the village loafer for his representative and then the following spring he will repeat the tirade of abuse and criticism. It is high time the people of Texas remember that the Texas legislature is an institution created biennially by the people of Texas.—Waco Morning News.

Well, Both Profitable and Popular.
Governor Colquitt and Governor Cruce doing a Major-Hodges road stunt in Texas might add to the popularity of each at a time when each needs several new wrinkles in the popularity game.—Waco Morning News.

Elkin Lubliner Sees "Potash and Perlmuter" (Franklin P. Adams, in New York Mail.)

Endlich I got it a job on a newspaper which I like. Going on world's serious baseballs and on polo games is one thing, understand me, abiding for a past a now dramatic critic, that is something else again. Like this is how it happened. I and my Minnie is sitting down to supper—and that woman has got her faults, only that way she could fix gedampte rinder-rost mit kartoffel kien and one of them, believe me—we are sitting down to supper, like I said, when comes on the telephone a kinkel. I went myself on the phone.

"Nu," I says, "who is it?" "It's the Evening Mail," says the fellow, "and on account our regular dramatic critic, Bernheim Mandel, is sick from eating too much—"

"Senough," I says, "Mir a sorg, what the feller is sick from. Are you calling me on the telephone to tell me something oder are you giving me a nurse's chart?" "Say," says the editor, "don't take it so particular, Mr. Lubliner. What we want, Mr. Lubliner, is would you go on the theater and see this here play, 'Potash and Perlmuter,' and schreib us maybe a little piece in the paper is it any good or is it rotten?"

"Sure," I says, "if I would get the tickets and my expenses, that would be all right, only," I says, "I wouldn't write no schmier, on account if it is rotten I would like to say so." "Sure," he says, "Just go ahead."

So, to make a long story little, I and my Minnie got a taxicab and drove down to Joel M. Kohn's theatre, for $1.90, including the tip, and such a crowd as was standing around I never seen before. I seen the taxicab, I seen the whole trade and I bet I could of sold six bills good right in the lobby. Jerry Siegel I seen and Joe Weber and Louis Mann and Dave Tara and Martin Weil, which he used former times make the coast with Griffin brand waists, and Bach, Penberthal and Gott Weis war noch.

"Nu, pretty soon the curtain goes up and shows the office where Abe Potash and Mawrus Perlmuter is doing business and selling Arverne

GERMAN EMPEROR AGENT OF PEACE.

EMPEROR WILLIAM II OF GERMANY

Mr. Andrew Carnegie, after the ceremony of the unveiling of a bust of the late Sir William Randal Cremer in the Hall of Justice of the new Peace Palace at The Hague, paid a glowing tribute in a speech to Emperor William of Germany. He said:—"Surveying the world to-day, the most striking figure to be seen is that of the German Emperor, who recently celebrated his twenty-fifth year of a peaceful reign. His hands are unstained with human blood—a unique record. Hence Germany's astounding progress, educationally, industrially and commercially, proving that the greatest of all national blessings is peace."

RAINFALL IN TEXAS

FIRST GENERAL SOAKING DOWN-POUR IN MORE THAN TWO MONTHS.

Entire Panhandle Country is Benefited—Stops Cotton Picking in Some Places.

Dallas, Sept. 11.—The first generally soaking rains in Texas in two months were reported today. This has not been one storm covering the 255,000 square miles of the state, but a series of heavy downpours here and there all over the state since Sunday. With a few exceptions farmers report crop prospects, including cotton, improved, but at some points rain interrupted cotton picking.

Amarillo reported today that the entire Panhandle, the staked plains country south of that region and Western Oklahoma have been thoroughly soaked.

The South Texas rains extended from Houston westward to San Angelo. Central and North Texas points have sent in continual reports of rain for four days. Around Fort Worth the precipitation today was the heaviest since February. Other points receiving similar downpours are Vernon, Paris, Brady, Sherman, Waxahachie, Lockhart, Georgetown, Longview, Marshall, Stamford and scores of places scattered in between. These points, which embrace much of the state's richest agricultural belt, Heaviest in Two Months.

Vernon, Tex., Sept. 11.—General rains are falling here, the heaviest in two months.

Worth Millions to Panhandle.
Amarillo, Sept. 11.—The long drouth was effectively broken by heavy and general rains last night. Millions of dollars are saved for farmers and livestock men. Late feed is assured throughout the staked plains area of the Texas Panhandle and the plains of Eastern New Mexico and Southwestern Oklahoma.

Heaviest Since February.
Fort Worth, Sept. 11.—The heaviest rain since February started falling at dawn and is still coming down. It will result in the suspended million dollar road in Tarrant county being resumed.

At Snyder.
Snyder, Tex., Sept. 11.—A heavy rain fell last night over a large territory west of Snyder. There is a great demand here for cotton pickers.

Rains Make Roads Bad.
Paris, Tex., Sept. 11.—Westgard's party of ocean to ocean highway loggers left at 6 o'clock this morning for Texarkana. The roads are heavy from excessive rains.

Cooler at San Antonio.
San Antonio, Sept. 11.—Nearly an inch and a half of rain fell here this morning and more rain and cooler weather is predicted.

Good Rain at Brady.
Brady, Sept. 11.—The drouth was broken in this section by a heavy rain yesterday afternoon throughout the county.

Cotton Picking Stops.
Lockhart, Tex., Sept. 11.—A fine rain fell here last night. Gins have shut down and cotton picking is at a standstill.

Aged Citizen Dies.
Temple, Sept. 11.—Henry Smith Green, 74 years old, died here yesterday at the residence of his son, John Green, and funeral services were held today, interment being here. Deceased came here from Pannin county about four years ago. During the war he served as a soldier in the Confederate army and the pallbearers at his funeral today were all veterans of the last cause.

A handy device for creasing trousers that a Rhode Island man has patented consists of a split tube, to each side of which are pressing plates, kept together by the spring of the tube and heated by an alcohol lamp.

Many Children Taking Advantage of Dr. Georgia's Generous Offer

Will Examine the Eyes of the School Children Free of Charge, When the Children Are Accompanied by the Mother or Father or Relative.

Dr. W. B. Georgia, 324 Austin avenue, has had many school children to take advantage of his generous offer to examine their eyes free of charge. Dr. Georgia states, however, that in future they must be accompanied by one of the parents or guardian or relative, as in case of defective vision the advice can be given to the proper party, and steps taken to remedy the same.

Among the children who are backward in school are to be found those who suffer from eye troubles of various kind, and when applied in time the remedy is so effective that the studies are continued and kept up with such vigor that all classes are made and no serious harm results. School children over this entire section will be welcomed to Dr. Georgia's office at any time when accompanied by a member of the family or guardian. He is one of Waco's progressive and is at all times abreast of the times. To find his place look for the big electric spectacle sign, Dr. W. B. Georgia & Co., Optometrists and Lens Grinders, 324 Austin—opposite Sanger Bros.—ground floor.

GALVESTON HAS RAIN

STREETS FLOODED AND STREET CARS CANNOT BE OPERATED FOR AN HOUR.

Heaviest Precipitation in Three Years. Automobiles Find Water Too Deep for Travel.

Galveston, Sept. 11.—Rainfall for the twenty-four hours up to 7 o'clock this morning had amounted to 7.36 inches. While this is not a record rainfall for Galveston, it is the largest fall for any 24-hour period for more than three years. Street car service was stopped for an hour last night because of water in the streets.

For several days showers have prevailed, day and night. The ground was fairly well saturated when the first heavy rainfall of Wednesday began to fall, about 9 a. m. The street drains, clogged with the accumulation of several days, were unable to care for the excessive downpour. Showers fell throughout the day, and about 8:30 in the evening the heavens fairly opened, rain falling in sheets. The drains were hardly recovered from the morning rain and could not care for the volumes of water.

Crowds filled the principal streets in the downtown district. The streets were running in water, the car tracks submerged. In some places water covered the sidewalks. The condition furnished good sport to hundreds of on-lookers as some pedestrian would attempt to make his or her way homeward. Automobiles suffered; the water penetrated to the magnets in many machines and the life of the auto had been touched.

The automobile ambulance of Malloy and Son, responding to an emergency call, plowed through the water of Market street toward the Sealey hospital at a rapid rate. The big white auto chugged a spray of water almost as high as the machine, and it resembled a motor boat at high speed more than an automobile.

The rain was the heaviest since October 5, 1910, when 6.61 inches of rain fell in Galveston. Records of the Galveston bureau, give out by Observer W. P. Stewart, are: Sept. 14, 1908, 5.84; Oct. 13, 1906, 7.67; Sept. 22, 1904, 9.23; Oct. 7, 1901, 14.16; July 22, 1900, 14.25.

This latter figure is the record of the station for the forty-two years that it has been maintained at Galveston. It is estimated that 10 inches of rain fell Sept. 8, 1900, although there are no records on that date, as the apparatus at the station was carried away.

REPRESENTATIVE WILDER DEAD

Massachusetts Congressman Dies at Washington After Lingering Illness.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Representative William Henry Wilder, of the third Massachusetts district, died at his apartments here tonight after a lingering illness.

Mr. Wilder had suffered from a complication of diseases for nearly two years.

Representative Wilder was a native of Maine where he was born, at Belfast in 1855. He moved to Massachusetts in 1888, and was successively a merchant, manufacturer, inventor, lawyer and expert in patent matters. He was a republican and was elected to the sixty-second and re-elected to the sixty-third congress. He is survived by a widow and five children.

FROZEN FRESH EGGS.

Chemists Declare They Are Wholesome Food.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Frozen fresh eggs have the endorsement of the United States bureau of chemistry, which today placed its seal of approval on them as an article of wholesome food. After a long series of experiments the government chemists found that eggs may be broken, canned and then frozen without losing their flavor or deteriorating in any way. In thus preserving them against the day of scarcity, however, the chemists lay down two inviolable rules.

"Beware of bad eggs." "Keep 'em frozen." These rules observed, the experts declare there is no reason why frozen eggs should not become popular, especially with bakers and other extensive users of the product. The chemists dislike to dwell upon what might happen to a can of eggs that had become "unfrozen," however. They declined today to discuss the subject.

Looney Will Remain.

Austin, Sept. 11.—Attorney General F. F. Looney will not go to Panama in the governor's party during the latter part of this month. Mr. Looney's decision today came after an unusual amount of work had been filed in the department. The party will leave Austin on September 22 and sail from New Orleans on September 24.

THAW WILL BE ARRAIGNED TODAY

GUARDS ABOUT FUGITIVE'S HOTEL INCREASED FROM 12 TO 20.

25 CANADIANS FOLLOW HIM

Outspoken Opponents of Jerome—One Has Tilt with Lawyer—Governor Silent.

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 11.—Twenty-five Canadians, several of them outspoken opponents of Wm. Travers Jerome, after his arrest in Colebrook, Quebec, last week on a charge of gambling, and others from Sherbrooke, where Harry K. Thaw received an ovation in court, have followed the fugitive across the border into New Hampshire and revived with their coming the intense partisan feeling so evident while Thaw was in the Dominion. Jerome denounced one of them in public today.

Their presence in Colebrook enlivened what was otherwise a typical Thaw day for those who have been following the erratic course of Stamford White's slayer since his escape from Matteawan Sunday morning, August 17.

There was no court proceedings, Thaw's arraignment being put off by mutual consent until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and Thaw's lawyers, apparently thinking him safer in the custody of the sheriff than at large, abandoned their attempt to release him on a writ of habeas corpus. The guards about Thaw's hotel were increased tonight from twelve to twenty. All were armed and under the direction of Chief of Police Charles Kelly. The chief appointed his first deputies yesterday after hearing stories that officers from New York might attempt to spirit Thaw away. He augmented them in the face of rumors that the Canadian contingent might essay the same thing with the idea of snatching Thaw from Jerome's hand and at the same time rebuking high Dominion officials responsible for Thaw's sudden deportation yesterday morning.

Groups of Canadians stood about the hall corridors and on the street corners throughout the day and closely followed Thaw on the two trips he made from his room. The first of these was to a barber shop and the second to the office of his chief counsel, Thomas Johnson. Two automobiles, engines running, stood at the curb in front of the office all the time Thaw was within. This so alarmed the police chief that he and his men completely surrounded Thaw when he was brought out and escorted him to the hotel.

Mr. Jerome's denunciation of the partisan from Colebrook occurred in the Monmouth house, where Thaw is housed. The man, who interested himself in working up evidence against Jerome on the gambling charge of which he was accused, asked to be introduced to him. Jerome looked him over coldly, then spoke acerbity, bitterly of his experience in Colebrook, naming the man as the ringleader. There was a moment of strained silence, then Jerome turned his back.

Thaw's progress down Main street to his lawyer's office this afternoon drew the population of the village and environs to the scene, but there was no cheering.

Unless more delay intervenes, Thaw will be brought before Justice Carr in the morning on the complaint that he is wanted in New York for conspiracy.

Counsel for New York will ask that Thaw be remanded until a requisition warrant can be presented to Governor Felker and that he be removed to the county jail at Lancaster. Then will begin the real fight against extradition. In preparation for this Thaw has retained still another lawyer, N. E. Martin, ex-mayor of Concord, a leader in the state democracy and a close associate of Governor Felker. He arrived in Colebrook today.

Attorney General Tuttle declined to discuss reports that the governor would refuse to honor requisition papers signed by Martin H. Glynn as governor of New York.

New Warrant. Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Supreme Court Justice Moschauer today signed a new warrant for Thaw, charging him with having conspired with Richard J. Butler and others to effect his release from Matteawan. Tomorrow District Attorney Conger will go to Albany with requisition papers for the signature of Acting Governor Glynn and with Sheriff Horner to proceed from Albany to Concord and present the papers to Governor Felker.

BEAUMONT'S FIRE.

Beaumont, Sept. 11.—The large machine and carpenter shops of the Magnolia Petroleum company, south of Beaumont, were destroyed by fire of unknown origin this morning, causing a loss estimated at $50,000. There was no insurance. The company will rebuild at once.

Dies From Injuries.

Galveston, Sept. 11.—Muller Christensen, the 7-year-old son of John Christensen, a garage owner, died today from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile in front of his father's place of business last Friday night. The boy was at play and ran into the street when the accident occurred.

SITE FOR MONUMENT.

Mrs. Alexander White is to Make the Choice. Nashville, Sept. 11.—A. Paris (Tenn.) special says that Mrs. Alexander R. White, president general of the Daughters of the Confederacy, left there today, accompanied by a committee for the Shiloh battlefield fund committee. They go to choose a site for the $50,000 monument to be erected by the Daughters.

Hoo Hoo Hoo.

St. Louis, Sept. 11.—The establishment of a home for indigent lumber men and men in the allied industries was decided upon tonight by the Catenated Order of Hoo Hoo, which closed its annual convention today. A fund of $2,000 was ordered sent to Hot Springs, Ark., for fire sufferers.

Winnipeg, Canada, was unanimously chosen the place for the next year's

GIRLS! THICKEN AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Bring Back Its Gloss, Lustre, Charm and Get Rid of Dandruff.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair, soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is more a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will, you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—growing all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

SOCIAL EVIL MENACE

DR. LANDIS OF CINCINNATI SAYS IS PROBLEM OF THE CENTURY.

Dress by Women is Responsible Largely for Undermining Influences.

Colorado Springs, Sept. 11.—That the social evil is the menace of the twentieth century was the contention of Dr. J. H. Landis, health officer of Cincinnati, before the American Health association this afternoon.

"There is no reason why disease occasioned by the social evil should not receive the same treatment, so far as their handling by health departments is concerned, as the plague—that of isolation," he said.

Dr. Landis advanced the idea that the dress worn by women of today is responsible in a degree for influences which are undermining the race.

The association this afternoon elected these officers: President, Dr. W. C. Woodward of Washington, D. C.; secretary, Prof. Solskar H. Gunn of Boston; treasurer, Dr. Livingston Farrand, New York.

Jacksonville, Fla., was chosen for the convention next year, over Philadelphia and Rochester, N. Y.

Lawrence Vellier was elected chairman of the sociological section and Lee K. Frankel of New York was elected chairman of the temperance house department. A committee was formed to bring closer relations between the sociologists and other sections.

The public health official section elected Dr. C. V. Chapin, Providence, R. I., chairman, and Dr. E. C. Levy of Richmond, secretary.

In a speech before the association, Laurence Vellier spoke of the use of state and municipal funds for the benefit of the public health.

"It is really impossible to get from the public treasury sufficient funds for public health work," asked Mr. Vellier. In answering his own question he described a campaign in New York city which cost $355.94 and which resulted in an actual increase in the appropriation for the New York city health department of $233,000. This is equivalent, Mr. Vellier pointed out to the granting of a fund of five million dollars, the income of which was to be devoted to the prevention of tuberculosis. Similar successful campaigns for an increased appropriation of $150,000 to the temperance house department of New York city and a more recent campaign for an appropriation for Bedford Reformatory, were described by Mr. Vellier.

"The motto of this plain tale from the hills is that the public official needs a 'wicked' partner," said Mr. Vellier. "Some one who will stand behind him and back him up and do it all the time."

"It is entirely possible to get all the money you need for public health work, but you must show the fellow who holds the purse strings that the people want it. Few health officers can do this; they cannot with propriety carry on a campaign of acceleration such as I have described here. But there are any number of able men and women who can do this, and who will contribute money and time and thought and civic patriotism unceasingly. All that is needed is to annex them to the public health movement. Mr. Health Officer, why not try it?"

Power of Kansas Whiskey. (Dodge City (Kan.) Correspondent Kansas City Times.)

As in previous plagues the war on grasshoppers in Ford county has resulted in many "campfire" stories by the veterans. But one farmer has succeeded in killing a grasshopper. The farmer said he lost his can of syrup while taking his poisoned bran to the field. He had a full quart of whiskey which he mixed with the bran in place of the syrup.

He said an old hopper would come along, take a bite of the bran, jump about four feet in the air, spit a stream of "tobacco juice" light down, take another bite, and then start out to lick the first hopper he met. In this way all the hoppers in the field were soon fighting each other. As soon as one hopped killed another he sought a new opponent, and in this way there was soon but one big hopper left. Soon a rooster came along and made a drive for his hopper, but Mr. Hopper, instead of allowing himself to be eaten, jumped up and kicked the rooster in the face, spit "tobacco juice" in his eyes, and chased him under the barn.

This farmer now plans to feed whisky to his chickens should there be another hopper invasion.

ADJUST TARIFF TO BOTH HOUSES

WITH THE REPUBLICANS BARRED FROM PROCEEDINGS, DEMOCRATS IN CONFERENCE.

LA FOLLETTE SAYS UNUSUAL

Members of Committee Claim Has Precedent in Former Tariff Revisions.

Washington, Sept. 11.—With the minority members of the conference committee barred from the proceedings, the democratic majority in charge of the final work on the tariff revision bill today began its work of adjusting conflicts between the senate and house.

At the end of a short afternoon session the democrats had completed work on the chemical schedule and Representative Underwood and Senator Simmons predicted that progress toward a complete agreement would be speedy and harmonious.

The democratic conferees will not call the minority in until they have settled all phases of the tariff dispute. The conference, which began today, was participated in by Senators Simmons, Williams, Shively and Johnson, and Representatives Underwood, Dixon, Kitchen and Rainey. Representative Murdock, the progressive named on the house conference committee, appeared at the conference room early in the afternoon, but when he found the democrats were working separately on the bill he made no effort to join the conference.

In today's session the house members yielded to the senate on the majority of amendments, accepting the senate's lower rates on most of the disputed items. The reductions made by the senate on coal tar dyes, including alizarin and anthracene, were approved and the senate's rate on soaps were retained, although the language of the paragraph was changed at the suggestion of house members.

A compromise was made on the item of chorate of potash, which the house had taxed at one cent per pound, but which had been free listed in the senate. It is understood the compromise will be based on practically an even division of the house rate.

The democratic conferees will meet daily in morning and afternoon sessions and the republican members probably will not be called in until the latter part of next week. Senator La Follette intimated today that he considered the procedure of the democrats unusual in working over the bill without their associates named from the two houses, but other members of the committee said the method pursued was in line with precedent established in other tariff revisions.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. Mary Lou Tinsley Miller and Mrs. Bettie Tague Love of Memphis, Tenn., will arrive here today to attend the funeral of their uncle, Walter S. Baker.

Dr. W. B. Morrison returned yesterday from a month's visit in the north and east, where he attended a druggists' convention in Boston. The convention lasted four days and was attended by 5,000 dealers from the United States, Mexico, Canada, Hawaiian Islands, Philippines and the British Isles.

Faints When Jury Acquits of Murder

McAlester, Okla., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Birda Turley, frail little woman, mother of four children, fainted in the superior court room today when a jury acquitted her of the murder of Mrs. Lena Schumaker.

The unwritten law was the indirect plea, it being known that Mrs. Turley's husband had become infatuated with Mrs. Schumaker, his stenographer, and so neglected his family that Mrs. Turley purchased a revolver, rode forty miles and shot Mrs. Schumaker to death.

Emotional insanity was the formal plea.

The jury was out only a few minutes.

"Take Me to Broadway" Said High Chancellor

No individual you can name as your Executor or Trustee will be under the supervision of the Banking Department of the State of Texas. WHEN you appoint THE BANKERS TRUST COMPANY as your Executor or Trustee at the same time you place your Estate under the watchful eye of the Bank Examiner.

No sooner had Viscount Haldane, lord high chancellor of England and highest judicial officer in the world, stepped from the liner that landed him in New York for his American visit, than he exclaimed: "Where's Broadway? Take me to Broadway."

And the smile shown in the illustration is the one the camera man caught as the words issued from his lips.

The lord high chancellor, on his visit to New York, Albany and then Montreal, proved that his desire to visit Broadway was real. He gave up his dignity for jollity during his visit. He did see Broadway, rode up and down it and gaped in wonder at the high buildings, something he had

MANY CONGRATULATE SANGER FORT WORTH BRIDGE FALLS

His Seventieth Birthday Brings Cordial Greetings from His Friends in Waco.

For Second Time in Four Months Span Goes Down on Clear Fork of Trinity.

Sam Sanger's friends called on him yesterday morning when they saw in the Morning News that he was to have a birthday, and extended cordial congratulations.

Mr. Sanger knew that he had reached his seventieth milestone, and he knew that his family would remember him, but he was not prepared for the public announcement that greeted him when he opened the Morning News and saw himself pictured sitting at the handsome desk which was a gift of the employees of the store last March, while above the desk was the representation of a great business establishment showing the result of his forty years of effort in this city.

He came to the store as usual, and one after another of his friends dropped in to shake hands, extend best wishes and say a word of congratulation, while others conveyed their greetings by telephone. Later in the day he was presented with a gold-handled umbrella by the heads of departments of the store.

Temple, Sept. 11.—The death of J. K. Griffin, a well known farmer residing five miles northeast of this city, occurred yesterday and funeral services were conducted today at Pendleton. Deceased had resided here for about twenty years and was a native of South Carolina. He was 69 years old. During the war he served as a private soldier in the federal army. Two sons, Tobe and Foster Griffin, both grown, survive. The latter is a rural mail carrier in the Temple post-office.

CONTRACT TO BRITON

ENGLISH BUILDER IS TO MAKE TURBINE DRUMS FOR U. S. BATTLESHIP.

Bid is Third of Lowest American Offer—Roosevelt Says Difference Justifies.

Washington, Sept. 11.—An English builder was today awarded the contract for turbine drums for the newest American battleship, No. 39, at a little more than one-third the price offered by the lowest American bidder. The accepted bid was $57,436, submitted by New York agents of the Cyclopedia Steel and Iron Works, Sheffield, England.

It is exceptional for the navy department to send a contract abroad but Acting Secretary Roosevelt held that the action today was justified by the tremendous difference between English and American prices.

The Sheffield bid includes the payment of duty and by giving the work to the foreign builder the United States saves more than $100,000.

There were two American bidders, the Bethlehem Steel company, $169,568, and the Midvale Steel company, $166,272. The Carnegie company, the only other domestic concern equipped to build the drums, did not bid.

TWO KILLED IN AN EXPLOSION

Several Injured When Dynamite in Magnesia Mine Goes Off Prematurely.

Batesville, Ark., Sept. 11.—Two men were killed and several injured, one seriously, as the result of an explosion of dynamite in a magnesia mine two and a half miles north of Batesville this afternoon. Charles McElfish, aged 38, a miner, was so badly injured that he died a short time later, while Seymour Lindley, aged 40, a helper, was instantly killed.

It is believed that McElfish, who was engaged in blasting, incorrectly timed the fuse on a charge of dynamite. The explosion set off twelve sticks of dynamite that Lindley had with him. His body was terribly mangled. As McElfish lay dying he said to those about him:

"I won't be a powder boy any longer. I'm a blowed-up sucker."

NO HARM RESULTS FROM LAUGHTER

OXFORD PROFESSOR CLAIMS IS GOOD TO LAUGH AT OTHER'S MISFORTUNES.

FOOD SUPPLY IS DIMINISHING

Dickson Says Is But Short Time Until World Will Face Serious Shortage.

Birmingham, England, Sept. 11.—It is not wrong to laugh at the misfortunes of other people; such laughter is a beneficial provision whereby a mass of minor sorrows which otherwise would depress humanity is turned into a stimulant, promoting wellbeing both bodily and mentally, according to Dr. W. R. McDougall of Oxford, before the British Association for the Advancement of Science. The sessions of the association are being held at the University of Birmingham. His subject was "a new theory of laughter," and the manner in which he treated it excited the greatest interest of the day.

Keen interest was displayed in the address of Miss Ethel Sargent, the noted botanist, as she was the first woman to preside over a section in the history of the British Association. She expressed her gratitude for the generosity shown to her and the highest form of generosity was that which dared to do an act of justice in the face of custom and prejudice.

The delivery of numerous presidential addresses to the various sections left little time for discussion. Much of the day was occupied in the conferring of degrees at the University.

Honorary degrees of L.D.S. were conferred today on Prof. Robert W. Wood, professor of experimental physics at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, and Madame Curie, co-discoverer of radium.

Food Supply.

The striking geographical explorations passed in the history of the earth's two poles, the geographer of the future will have as the field the vital questions of supplying and distributing food and clothes to the world, in the opinion of H. N. Dickson, president of a section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, who addressed the association today.

Mr. Dickson is professor of geography at the University college, Edinburgh, president of the Royal Meteorological Society and a recognized authority and writer on meteorological and geographical topics.

Foremost of these questions Mr. Dickson believes will be that of growing wheat enough for the world's bread. A host of problems of the future are marshalled behind this, among them being the questions of obtaining power and energy sufficient to operate the needed increase in factories, the fuel question and the distribution of population. Within a century he estimates the resources of the world will be taxed to their full capacity.

"Civilized man is beginning to realize that in reducing more and more the surface of the earth to what he considers a habitable condition, he is making progress so rapidly that the problem of finding suitable accommodation for his increasing numbers must become urgent within a few generations. We are getting into the position of the merchant whose trade is constantly expanding and who foresees that his premises will soon be too small. In our case removal to more commodious premises seems impossible so we are driven to means of rebuilding the old site and so making the best of what we have."

"In the type of civilization with which we are most familiar there are two fundamental elements, supply of energy and supplies of mechanical energy. Since at present partly because of geographical condition, these do not occur together; there is a third essential factor, the line of transport."

Wheat Acreage.

Mr. Dickson referred to the wheat acreage which he said is not keeping pace with the increase in population.

"If prophecies based on population statistics are trustworthy," Mr. Dickson declared, "the crisis will be upon us before the end of the century. After that we must either depend upon some substitute to reduce the consumption per head or we must take to intensive farming of the most strenuous sort."

As to the world's coal supply, Mr. Dickson said that the largest known fields would last barely three centuries, even at the present rate of consumption.

There must be begun in the near future," Mr. Dickson continued, "a great equalization in the distribution of population. This equalization will arise from a number of causes, among them being intensive cultivation of soil and more uniform distribution of manufactures."

"What is wanted," he concluded, "is that we should seriously address ourselves to a stock taking of our resources. We should vigorously proceed with the collection and discussion of geographical data of all kinds so that the major natural distribution shall be adequately known. Finally we shall find that country planning will become as important as town planning. In the meantime geographical knowledge will yield scientific results of much significance about such matters as distribution of population and industry and the degree of adjustment to new conditions which occurs or is possible in different regions and amongst different peoples."

London Comments.
London, Sept. 11.—The reports that Sir Oliver Lodge, in his inauguration address before the British Association at Birmingham Wednesday night would go further than he had ever gone before in declaring his well known belief in the possibility of communication by the spirits of the departed with this world, and that his remarks would be in reply to the materialistic

"CASCARETS" ALWAYS STRAIGHTEN YOU UP

When Constipated, Headachy, Bilious, Stomach Sour, Breath Bad.

Get a 10-cent box now. You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never scribe or sicken.

argument with which Prof. Edward Albert Schaefer opened the congress, served as a general interest to a remarkable degree. The address, although it did not come up to expectations as a sensational pronouncement, is being widely discussed.

The Times under the heading "The New Woman, adding that the highest form of generosity was that which dared to do an act of justice in the face of custom and prejudice.

"The whole discourse is a protest against arrogance. In recent years science has been asserting its claims against a dogmatic theology. Perhaps some overassertion was necessary, but overassertion there certainly was."

"The public awoke to find that they had only exchanged one priesthood for another. The laws of science were more sacrosanct than holy writ. Nothing which could not be weighed on a scale and measured by the yardstick of science was allowed any validity. In the midst of this bigotry called itself agnosticism."

The Times concludes: "By natural transition Sir Oliver Lodge passed on from existence in this world to the other world, and to the question of immortality. Quietly, moderately and firmly he made his profession of faith in the persistence of personality beyond bodily death, of which he has been convinced by strict science and in the grand truth of religion. An impressive close was thus made to a fine effort—one more consonant, we believe, with the present trend of advanced thought than repugnant to it."

WOMEN AID STRIKERS.

Sympathizers Organize Auxiliary to Federation.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 11.—Women strike sympathizers today organized an auxiliary to the Western Federation of Miners. They plan a vigorous campaign in behalf of the strikers. Six women are being arrested for interfering with the men going to work this morning took their arrest as a joke. When released on their own recognizance they trooped down the street with a band of strikers laughing and waving their arms.

Now that Claude O. Taylor, president of the Michigan Federation of Labor, has arrived at Calumet, officials of the operators a plan of arbitration, the strike leaders are awaiting the visit of John A. Moffit, from the federal department of labor.

Mr. Taylor was told today by A. E. Peterman, counsel for the Calumet and Hecla Mining company, that the operators would not agree to arbitration.

The strikers have arranged big demonstrations for Friday, Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

NO LIVES ENDANGERED.

Americans at San Domingo Thought to Be Safe.

Washington, Sept. 11.—In the absence of advice from the commander of the cruiser Des Moines, officials today were inclined to believe that the lives and property of Americans in San Domingo were not in imminent peril from the revolution, said to be convulsing the republic.

Beyond a letter report announcing the arrival of Puerto Plata on the north coast of the island republic, no word had been received from the warship up to an early hour today.

The Washington authorities are taking no chances, however, and all preparations have been made for the dispatch of a force sufficiently powerful to protect the customs houses and American property and lives if they are threatened. The gunboat Nashville is prepared to sail at an hour's notice to Dominican waters and other vessels are in an equal state of preparedness. The Nashville is now at Puerto Cortez, Honduras.

50 YEARS OLD; ELOPES.

Pictureque Character Runs Away With 21-Year-Old Bride.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Geo. Currie, one of the most picturesque characters of the Sixty-second congress, eloped tonight to Rockville, Md., the capital's Gretna Green, and married Miss Martha Clara Gans of Uniontown, Pa. Currie is 50 years old, while his bride gave her age as 21. Objections by the young woman's parents to the match are said to have prompted the runaway.

Currie served as sheriff of several counties in New Mexico in the frontier days, saw service in the Spanish-American war with Roosevelt's rough riders, fought later in the Philippine Islands as commander of the Philippine Scouts, was police chief of Manila and later governed several provinces in the archipelago. Hewas elected to the Sixty-second congress, but did not seek re-election.

CHARGES AGAINST JUDGE LANDIS

HYMAN EPSTEIN CLAIMS THAT CONSPIRACY SENT HIM TO PRISON.

PRISONERS LETTERS REVEAL

Says Read Correspondence While Was Convict Clerk in Mail Department.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Charges of criminal conspiracy were filed in the United States district court today against Federal Judge K. M. Landis, Assistant District Attorney Edward J. Goodman and Harry A. Parkin and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Silver. The charges were made by Attorney Hyman Epstein and were based on the affidavits of Max Gerber, a convict at Fort Leavenworth, made while Epstein was serving a fifteen months' sentence for perjury, committed before Judge Landis.

The charges were made in Judge Landis' court by Epstein, who introduced an affidavit while pleading for a return of his right as attorney to practice in the United States courts.

Epstein charged that he had been sent to prison on the strength of a conspiracy by Judge Landis, the two government attorneys and Mr. and Mrs. Silver.

Epstein represented the Silvers in a bankruptcy proceeding. Silver confessed to perjury and gave testimony which resulted in his and Epstein's sentences to the federal penitentiary. Gerber, who was a colimate of Silver, stated in his affidavit that Silver had told him that his testimony which sent Epstein to prison was false.

Epstein revealed the fact that as a convict clerk in the mail department he had read all of Silver's letters to and from his wife. He aroused Judge Landis' wrath when he read from a notebook quotations from a letter from Mrs. Silver. Turning to District Attorney Parkin, Judge Landis said:

"For your information, I will say, I will never again send a prisoner from this court to any penitentiary where a man's private letters are not kept from the inspection of the other prisoners."

YOUTH HANGED IN ARKANSAS

Omer Davis, Aged 18, Executed for Murder of School Teacher Last February.

Fort Smith, Ark., Sept. 11.—Omer Davis, 18 years old, country boy, was hanged at Fayetteville, Ark., today for the murder of Miss Nellie Moneyhun, 26, his school teacher, near Springdale, February 2, last. Davis assisted the sheriff in placing the noose around his neck and before the black cap was adjusted said, "I want all of you to meet me in heaven." The boy's mother was near the inclosure surrounding the scaffold and swooned when she heard the trap spring. Davis is said to have been in love with Miss Moneyhun and the announcement of her approaching marriage caused him to commit the crime.

Against the wishes of her husband and many of her friends, Mrs. Davis, carrying an infant, walked many miles through northwestern Arkansas, getting signatures to a petition asking the governor for commutation of Davis' sentence to life imprisonment. After getting a considerable number of names Mrs. Davis lost the petition one night. It was stolen from her, it is said.

Jurors' Agreement.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 11.—In the mass of documents presented to Governor Hays, who refused to interfere with the Davis execution, was the following agreement signed by the jurors during their deliberations: "We, the jury in the case of Omer Davis, charged with the murder of Nellie Moneyhun, ask that in case the court passes the death sentence on the said Omer Davis, the governor of the state of Arkansas commute said sentence to life imprisonment."

Each member of the jury believed at the time, it is alleged, that this agreement would save the life of Davis. Subsequently four of the jurors signed a statement that the first degree verdict "would not have been returned into court had it not been for the aforesaid agreement and the belief that it would save the life of the defendant by commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment."

Zamacona Incognito.

Baltimore, Sept. 11.—Senor Manuel de Zamacona, personal representative of President Huerta of Mexico, who left Washington today supposed for New York, is in Baltimore. He registered today at a hotel here as M. De Inclan, without stating from where he came. He denied himself to newspaper reporters, saying that it would be impossible for him to make any statement as to what he was doing in the city or how long he would remain here.

Senor Zamacona remained in his room and sent several telegrams in cipher to Mexico.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Them.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from Powers-Kelly Drug Co., and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

"Bill" Is Kidnaped Texas Shriners Are the Guilty Ones

New Orleans, Sept. 11.—Hella Temple of Dallas kidnaped Osman Temple's goat today when that animal was released from the steamship Turrialba by officials of the United States bureau of animal industry, who had held it in quarantine after its return from a trip to Panama. When Osman Temple, shriner of St. Paul, went to claim the animal today they discovered two Shriners from Dallas had already obtained "Bill," eluding pursuit until they boarded a train at noon for Texas. The goat is said to be the property of J. Harry Lewis of St. Paul.

Shriners Riled.
New Orleans, Sept. 11.—After a long consultation with two indignant St. Paul Shriners, Assistant District Attorney Daily filed informations charging Currie McCutcheon, district attorney of Dallas county, Texas, and Paul D. Vandeveld of Dallas, with grand larceny and having stolen property in their possession. The goat, whose christian name is "Lil Arthur," is valued at $100 real money, and $1,000 600 sentimentally. Hence the charge of grand larceny. The local police telegraphed the police of Shreveport to intercept "Lil Arthur" when the train from this city arrived here tonight.

Kidnapers Caught.
Shreveport, La., Sept. 12.—The local police were on hand tonight upon the arrival of the train bearing members of Hella Temple, of Dallas, who had in their possession the goat mascot alleged to have been kidnaped from Osman Temple in New Orleans, but local Shriners furnished bond for them and the goat and its captors proceeded to Dallas.

Lil Arthur Adul.
Shreveport, La., Sept. 12.—Police-men have been detailed to arrest "Lil Arthur" the kidnaped goat of Osman Temple, together with his captors on their arrival here early this morning. The local police are not quite sure, however, that a charge of kidnapping will lie against the Dallas Shriners, since the goat is said to be an adult.

SEIZE TRUNKS.

Customs Inspectors Find Unlisted Purchases in Wilborg Baggage.
New York, Sept. 11.—Customs inspectors seized today the contents of twenty trunks, mostly wearing apparel brought here from Europe by Mrs. Frank P. Wilborg and her three daughters of Cincinnati.

When Mrs. Wilborg and her daughters landed, the inspectors found mistakes in declarations and in searching their baggage found articles which had not been declared. It was thought that the Wilborgs had merely forgotten to list all their foreign purchases and the trunks were sent to the appraisers' stores. There the inspectors found the original cost of the undeclared goods to be about $5000, duty on which would be about $3000.

They so reported at a hearing today and the case was placed in the hands of the federal attorney.

Naval Inspection.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The naval affairs committee of the house today made plans for an extensive trip of inspection to take in all naval stations on the Pacific and Gulf coasts. The committee will leave, according to the tentative plans, on November 20, going to Chicago to inspect the naval training station there and then proceeding to the coast. After visiting the coast stations from Mare Island to Bremer-ton, the committee will return by way of the Gulf coast.

Haiti Arbitration.

Paris, Sept. 11.—The governments of France and Haiti have signed an agreement to submit for arbitration the claims made against Haiti in 1913 by France conjointly with the United States, Germany, Great Britain and Italy. The agreement also covers the claims of Syrians and Ottomans who are the proteges of France in Haiti.

Railroads Offer Low Rates for the Coleman County Fair, Oct. 3-4.

Coleman, Tex., Sept. 1.—The Coleman County Fair, scheduled for October 3 and 4, in this city, will be in many respects the most unique affair of its kind ever pulled off in this part of the state, and although it is a month off it has attracted much attention even beyond the county limits.

Excursion rates have been announced over the G. C. and S. P. railway from Temple, San Angelo, Eden, and intermediate stations, and similar rates are definitely promised over the P. and N. T. and C. S. S. and L. V., which, taking into consideration the class of roads and schedule of trains gives us unsurpassed railway accommodations. The fair proper, and that means the display of Coleman county products, which county enjoys the distinction of having more thoroughbred cattle than any other county in Texas, will be located on Commercial avenue, the principal street of the town, which is 120 feet wide and will be equipped with numerous sanitary drinking fountains and lighted for the evenings of the occasion with several hundred special tungsten lamps. This street will be roped off for a distance of 1320 feet, so as to exclude therefrom all traffic and turn it over entirely to the throngs seeking enlightenment and pleasure.

Except for half a dozen parades, including that of the famous baby beef class, the largest of its kind in the world, Commercial avenue will be kept free from all shows, stands and other obstructions so that all may move with perfect safety and freedom. Even the smallest children will be quite safe, barring an occasional mashed toe or healthy tumble.

A number of carnival companies have sought space adjacent to the fair for their attractions but this has been consistently refused on account of the fact that all these concerns are accompanied by a number of objectionable features which they seem to be unable or unwilling to eliminate. For this reason the Coleman committee has dealt with each and every attraction separately, and each has been chosen upon its own merits or rejected entirely. This has taken much time and expense but as a result we will have the greatest string of attractions ever seen in Texas with the "skin game" left out. This may keep away a bunch of folks who trail around after such gatherings in search of the coarse and vulgar but their absence will certainly be welcomed by the thousands of people who come to see and study the best products of Coleman county.

Philadelphia, Sept. 11.—By bunching hits, singles by Shawkey, E. Collins and Baker, with E. Murphy's sacrifice and J. Collins' wild throw in the seventh inning, Philadelphia defeated Chicago today by 4 to 1. Up to that point Shawkey and Scott had a twirling duel. After hitting safely in the seventh, Shawkey was taken out to permit Walsh to run for him. Bender finished the game. Captain Murphy of Philadelphia was ordered off the field by Umpire Connolly in the sixth inning for arguing.

Boston, Sept. 11.—Twenty hits for a total of 27 bases made by Detroit, combined with Boston's errors, gave the visitors an easy victory today, 15 to 2. Detroit drove Reddet from the box after the fourth inning and Hall was treated likewise. Daus kept the five singles made by the locals well scattered. Hendrickson, a hero of the deciding game of the world's championship last year, appeared in a game for the first time in three months.

Cleveland, Sept. 11.—Six bases on balls, a hit and an error gave Washington seven runs and the game in the seventh inning today, making it four straight over Cleveland. The score was 7 to 3. Steen had allowed only one hit and had struck out five when the seventh opened. When, with one out, he yielded his second hit, and walked two men, Callop, called to the rescue, gave two passes and forced in two runs and was replaced by Blanding, who gave two more passes, contributed an error and yielded a single, which netted five runs. Manager Birmingham was put off the field and Catcher O'Neil of the game for disputing a decision of Umpire Egan in the seventh.

ROTARIAN'S BARBECUE

FEASTING WITHIN WHILE THE RAIN POURS ON THE OUTSIDE.

Affair is Held at Cotton Palace, Illuminated by Headlights of Automobiles.

Marooned for two hours after dark in the big machinery exhibits building in Cotton Palace park by a driving rain that transformed the driveways and walkways of the ground into miniature rivers, members of the Rotary club, many accompanied by wives and daughters, the party numbering more than half a hundred, feasted and frolicked last evening at the oddest and gayest barbecue ever held by an organization.

The ladies of the party voted it a splendid adventure. Attended by a series of adverse circumstances that might have caused a less optimistic and enterprising body of men to abandon the festivities altogether, the Rotary club defied mishaps and the elements and turned the affair into a magnificent success.

The only illumination was supplied by the lights from automobiles drawn up at the doors of the building. The machines were placed in positions that permitted the shafts of light from the lamps to shed their rays over that area of the building where the barbecue festivities were in progress.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the social gathering of the club was composed of Dr. H. M. Lanham, Dr. A. J. Beville and C. G. Sneed. These gentlemen began to discern rough seas ahead when rain fell heavily shortly before noon. The barbecue had been planned to be held at Busch park in the open. They decided, however, early in the afternoon that it would be wise to change the scene of the festive event to a place affording the shelter of a roof. So the change was made to the spacious building in the exposition park.

Then came an accident that delayed the arrival of many of the club members and their guests. The hour fixed for the beginning of the feast was 6 o'clock. Shortly after 5:30 a trolley wire broke on South Eighth street, and the trolley, and the cars of the Cotton Palace, were stalled for three-quarters of an hour while linemen were making repairs. On several of those stalled cars were members of the club with their ladies. When the late comers put in an appearance darkness had set in. The rain fell steadily. It increased in volume after the barbecue was in swing, and before the automobile headlights were turned into the building the noise of the rain on the roof almost drowned the sounds of merry-making within.

The spirit of gaiety, however, was never for a moment diminished by the torrential rain nor the flooded grounds around the building. The party enjoyed the experience perhaps more than if nothing had occurred to change the program arranged by the committee. Everything was delightfully informal and the steaming, savory roast of beef and other refreshments, which were served in abundance, were relished all the more keenly for the misadventures that converted the barbecue from a conventional affair to a quaint and unusual event.

Rescuers with closely hooded automobiles came chugging through the churning seas of water and mud shortly after 8 o'clock in the evening and bore away to their homes the last of the marooned merry-makers.

Besides the money that will be spent for accommodations while the tourists are on the road, hundreds of them will become impressed with the beautiful and productive country through which the All-Southern Transcontinental route will pass and will invest large sums of money in the fecund soil of the southland.

Good roads enthusiasts are also manifesting a lively interest in the work of Mr. Ferguson, for he is known to be one of the leading good roads experts of the United States, and everything that he can do for the advancement of better highways is being done. All along the route he has already covered repeated requests for good roads addresses have been made, and in all possible instances Mr. Ferguson has complied. The same requests will be made of him in Texas and his trip will do much to advance the cause of good roads in this state.

Of course the proposed route would be worthless, admitting that the southland has an incomparable climate at all seasons of the year, if the roads were impassable, and Mr. Ferguson is making it a point to select the best roads and those which are in communities that show a tendency to improve those that are perhaps not now in the best of condition. In this way the pathfinding trip is proving a stimulus to the improvement of the roads.

The following McLennan county citizens have been appointed as a reception committee to the pathfinders: H. M. Baine, W. W. Seley, Dr. J. W. Hale, Secretary Horace Flynn of Waco Automobile club, J. J. Powers, president Chamber of Commerce; E. F. Drake, secretary Chamber of Commerce; W. V. Crawford, president Young Men's Business League; H. Hagedorn, secretary Young Men's Business League; M. Finkner, Percy Willis, George Byars, city engineers; R. J. Windrow, county engineer; Harry Cruiger, George N. Denton, county judge; West, H. B. PATHFINDERS TO BE HERE TODAY

IS PROMOTED BY THE PRESS

All Southern Transcontinental Route from Atlanta to Los Angeles. Wacoans on Committee.

An All-Southern transcontinental automobile route from Atlanta, Ga., to Los Angeles, Cal., is the aim of the Post, the Dallas Times-Herald, the New Orleans Item, the Montgomery Advertiser, the Birmingham News and the Atlanta Georgian. To make such a route an assured success the papers are promoting a pathfinding tour that is being made by E. L. Ferguson, the noted good roads expert.

Mr. Ferguson will reach Waco this afternoon and spend the night here, having left Atlanta August 18. While in Texas Mr. Ferguson will be entertained by good roads enthusiasts all over the state. For some time preparations have been under way for the reception of Mr. Ferguson, his wife and two children. Remick and Dorothy, who are accompanying him to show that the proposed route can be covered with comfort.

This route, when it becomes established, will mean much to the country and cities through which it will lie. It is expected to not only turn the tide of transcontinental auto travel to the south, but to act also as a stimulus to good road building in the states to be traversed.

Newspapers of the south behind the movement believe that a route like the one proposed would be more practical and desirable than the routes already established through the northern states. It is known that the climatic conditions in the south are better all the year round than in the north, although in some parts of the country this fact has not been learned, and one of the objects of the tour now being made by Mr. Ferguson is to spread this knowledge.

The southern summers are delightful as compared with the same season in the north, according to many people who have traveled extensively in all parts of the country, and every one agrees that the winters in Dixie are mild and pleasant. In the north in some places winter travel is so uncomfortable that it seldom is attempted.

Want to be on the Map.
The newspapers backing Mr. Ferguson in his Coast-to-Coast tour believe that the route over which he is going can be traveled at any season of the year. That will make the route popular with all automobile enthusiasts and will mean also that the route will be used by more persons than any other in the country.

All of the towns and cities that have been visited by Mr. Ferguson have been making great efforts to be placed on the pathfinder's map. They realize the importance of being on the route, knowing that hundreds of tourists will follow the trail of the pathfinder every year. These tourists will spend thousands of dollars in the towns and cities through which they will pass and it will not be for a week or a month, but in all probability for all time to come.

Besides the money that will be spent for accommodations while the tourists are on the road, hundreds of them will become impressed with the beautiful and productive country through which the All-Southern Transcontinental route will pass and will invest large sums of money in the fecund soil of the southland.

Good roads enthusiasts are also manifesting a lively interest in the work of Mr. Ferguson, for he is known to be one of the leading good roads experts of the United States, and everything that he can do for the advancement of better highways is being done. All along the route he has already covered repeated requests for good roads addresses have been made, and in all possible instances Mr. Ferguson has complied. The same requests will be made of him in Texas and his trip will do much to advance the cause of good roads in this state.

Of course the proposed route would be worthless, admitting that the southland has an incomparable climate at all seasons of the year, if the roads were impassable, and Mr. Ferguson is making it a point to select the best roads and those which are in communities that show a tendency to improve those that are perhaps not now in the best of condition. In this way the pathfinding trip is proving a stimulus to the improvement of the roads.

The following McLennan county citizens have been appointed as a reception committee to the pathfinders: H. M. Baine, W. W. Seley, Dr. J. W. Hale, Secretary Horace Flynn of Waco Automobile club, J. J. Powers, president Chamber of Commerce; E. F. Drake, secretary Chamber of Commerce; W. V. Crawford, president Young Men's Business League; H. Hagedorn, secretary Young Men's Business League; M. Finkner, Percy Willis, George Byars, city engineers; R. J. Windrow, county engineer; Harry Cruiger, George N. Denton, county judge; West, H. B. Terrell, editor West News, West; Emmett Smith, editor West Times, West; James H. Mackey, mayor, Waco; J. A. Caulfield, city commissioner; J. A. Littlefield, city commissioner; John Dollins, city commissioner; John W. Foster, city commissioner; George N. Denton, county judge; C. N. Smith, county commissioner; R. E. Moseley, county commissioner; Waco; F. L. Willenborg, county commissioner; West; J. N. Brock, county commissioner; Tom L. McCullough, district judge; Richard I. Monroe, district judge; James Hays Quarles, Morning News; George Robinson, Times-Herald; A. R. McCollum, Semi-Weekly Tribune; A. Schack, editor Post.

Losses Finger in Storm Sewer Work.
Three Pleas of Guilty in the County Court.

Suit for personal injury in the sum of $7,000 was filed in the Nineteenth district court yesterday by Joe Banks against the city of Waco and others. Banks, who was employed as a laborer on the construction of the Mary street storm sewer, alleges that he lost the finger from a hand while in the employ of the contractor doing the work.

The matter was presented to the commission in a written communication at the last meeting of that body by attorneys representing Banks. The city disclaims liability for the accident. The commission referred the communication to the city attorney.

Three Pleas of Guilty.
Although the criminal docket of the county court was not on trial yesterday three pleas of guilty were entered. Pomp Collins pleaded guilty to carrying a pistol and was sentenced to thirty days in jail and also entered a plea of guilty to theft. In the latter case he was fined $5 and sentenced to one hour in jail. J. B. Buell pleaded guilty to aggravated assault and battery and was fined $25.

No Automobile Licenses.
For the first time in many months two days have passed without the issuance of an automobile license by the county clerk's office. No licenses were issued Wednesday or Thursday. Also no licenses for motorcycles were issued.

NINETEENTH DISTRICT COURT
Tom L. McCullough, Judge.
R. V. McCain, Clerk.

REAL ESTATE For SALE RENT TRADE REAL ESTATE

For Sale—Real Estate.

In looking over our listings this week we find that we have so many that look like good investments that it is a difficult matter to know exactly what to tell you about. Here are a few of our offerings, if they do not appeal to you, call on us, for we have exactly what you are looking for.

A four-story brick located right in the heart of the wholesale district of this city for only $57,500. This is an investment which will bear your closest inspection.

An improved corner on railroad 55x165 feet at less than $400 per front foot, any one looking for a buy that will produce a good revenue should not overlook this.

One of the best located business houses on Austin avenue at $250 less than any other property on this street within three blocks of this location. This is a sure index as to whether this is a good investment. Let us tell you more about this.

One of the nicest brick homes in Waco, located on a beautiful corner lot, and the price is less than $23,000. A magnificent two-story home on a desirable corner 150x165 feet at less than it would cost to duplicate the home. Is this cheap enough for you?

A most desirable two-story house on 75-foot corner lot, Waco Vista, price $3500. Will consider a small farm in trade on this property.

An excellent home of six rooms, hard wood floor in parlor and dining room, nice light fixtures, artistic mantels, large closets in every room, located on south front terraced lot in Waco Vista; price $4750. A small cash payment and terms to suit.

A fine location near Baylor, lot 75x220 feet, 8-room residence, and the price is only $3000; worth more. Lot 55x165 feet, close in on South Fifth street, on which is a 7-room residence, and the price is cheap at $2500.

We have a very complete list of rooming houses, ranging in price from $5000 to $20,000, that we can sell you on terms that will enable you to pay for the property from the revenue that it will produce.

A real bargain on North 15th street, lot 75x165 feet, 6-room residence, price $4750. "Nuf sed."

An ideal home on Gorman street for only $5000; $1000 cash, balance may be arranged to suit purchaser.

A first class investment in a little home on Sanger for only $3000; small cash payment, balance to suit.

A beautiful east front lot just across the street from Waco Vista. This is a bargain at $1500, but we can let you have it for only $1000.

75x165 feet just one block from the new school on Farwell Heights this week $1000.

A fine south front corner lot on Sanger avenue for $1050.

On Morrow street this is a bargain; south front lot surrounded by a group of new homes, which makes it a most attractive homestead, $1350.

One half block on Bell's Hill $3500, and a 5-room residence goes with this for good measure.

We have just listed a real B-a-r-g-a-i-n in a farm consisting of 1500 acres, situated within 100 miles of Waco, near a good railroad town—700 acres in cultivation, 13 sets of improvements, good water, 400 acres hog pasture, a fine Bermuda meadow. This land will produce a bale of cotton to the acre, also corn, peas, peanuts and other products in abundance, which can be used for fattening the swine on the range. You will readily realize the investment feature when we quote you this property at $1750 per acre.

We have a large list South and East Texas lands as well as properties situated in McLennan and adjoining counties. If you are in the market for good investments, call on us.

Opened.

Standing out as the principal matter of business to be considered by the city commission at its regular weekly meeting this morning will be the proposition to be formally submitted looking to the piping of natural gas into Waco. George W. Stough, who appeared before a called meeting of the commission a week ago and outlined primary plans for furnishing the city with gas, is expected to come before the meeting this morning with a tangible proposal, and a direct request for a franchise to do business. Mayor James H. Mackey received a telegram from Mr. Stough yesterday to the effect that he would arrive in Waco in time to appear before the commission this morning. He has been in St. Louis and Kansas City since his appearance before the commission last week.

Another matter of importance to a certain section of the city is that of the proposal to widen Columbus alley between Fifth and Sixth streets, which probably will be settled this morning. The alley in question runs in front of the property owned by the St. Paul's Episcopal church. An offer has been made by the parish to donate fourteen feet of land for the purpose of widening the alley and converting it into a street. This is on condition that the city bear the expense of paying the street and putting in a five-foot sidewalk in front of the church property. The alley at present is twenty-one feet in width. Fourteen feet from the church property would make a five-foot street and a five-foot sidewalk from this would give a thirty-foot street. At the last meeting of the commission the matter was referred to the city engineer for a report as to the approximate cost of doing the paving. Engineer George Byars has been calculating the cost and will report this morning. His report will be that the cost will be approximately $2897.50, for paving the street and putting in curb and sidewalks. For paving alone it will be $2555. Whether the abutting property owners on the south side of the street can be compelled to pay one-third of the cost of paving, as is done when other streets are paved, is one of the questions to be solved, also. In the event the commission determines this can be required, this will take $855 from the amount the city would be called upon to pay.

Eighteenth Street Park.
A matter which has been discussed at various meetings, that of the disposal of the parkway in Eighteenth street between Jefferson and Sanger, will also in all probability be taken up this morning. The city wants to run a roadway on both sides of the park, while citizens living nearby want the roadway to remain as it now is, that is, on only one side of the park. The position of the city is that the present situation is dangerous, in that the automobiles and street cars might collide at either end of the park. Only a few days ago the automobile of J. E. Yantis collided with a street car at one of the ends of the park.

Bids for Steel Trestles.
The city commission within a few days will be called upon to pass upon bids for the steel trestle work to be used in the construction of the river or Cameron park sanitary sewer. The sewer has been completed as far as the old city sanitary sewer is being replaced as fast as the present scarcity of labor will permit. Bids for the trestle have been called for from three steel supply houses, and these are expected to arrive soon. In all 528 feet of the sewer will be on trestles above ground. The city will purchase the trestle on the bids submitted and will pay the sewer contractor 10 per cent to install the sewer over them.

Cotton Belt Pays a Share.
Mary street, the largest ever constructed in the city, will be completed within thirty days if no unforeseen delay is experienced. The sewer, which is planned to carry off the greater amount of storm water in the business section, begins at Eleventh street and ends at the river. It is approximately 4500 feet in length. The contractor has gotten down to where small pipe is being used, and the work is progressing rapidly. This is the sewer in which the Cotton Belt is sharing the cost. The Cotton Belt is paying a big per cent of the total amount and already has remitted to the city about $12,000 to cover the two estimates which have been submitted. The railroad has been inconvenienced a great deal during the construction, but has handled its traffic without mishap.

New Cotton Chopper in Texas.
Mr. Robert Schallert, president of the Citizens State Bank of Alice, Tex., also one of the largest farmers of that section, has purchased the right for the Dixie Cotton Chopper on all unsold territory in Texas.

This chopper will do the work of nine men. Three days work will pay for the machine. One man can operate and does not require killed labor.

This has proven beyond any doubt a success and will be of vast assistance to the farmers throughout the whole state. T. K. Boggs of Decatur, Ala., the patentee of this machine, is going to put in factory in Waco for the manufacture of these choppers. Arrangements are about completed for same at this time.

DOES WACO WANT TO BUILD CITY HALL?

Morning News Will Publish Expressions From All Citizens Who Will Give Their Views on the Subject—Will Require Bond Issue.

There is a discussion in the city commission whether the city hall is to be remodeled or a bond issue to provide a fund to build a new city hall. The bond issue will have to be decided by the people. In order to get the sentiment of the people the Morning News will print from day to day the views of all citizens who will give an expression on the subject. The discussion of this subject is open to every citizen who cares to give his views. No expression will be published except that it is given with the full name of the citizen for publication. The Morning News does not publish anonymous communications of any character, nor does the Morning News publish communications signed "Citizen," "Pro Bono Publico," "Democrat," "Old Subscriber" or "Constant Reader."

T. D. Hays said the present building would last for a generation if it is remodeled by a competent architect. W. W. Seely said he thought the old building was good for quite a while.

Ray Favors New Hall.
John C. Ray said, "The old city hall is not in keeping with the progress of Waco. There is enough space wasted in high ceilings. Mr. Mann said, 'to double the capacity of the building.'"

A. W. Warner said he was satisfied with the present building. Henry Munterly said the old city hall was good enough for him.

W. A. Burroughs said, "The old city hall is mighty sorry. It isn't in line with Waco's progress."

Mike Adam said he was for an entirely new building.

R. Lyle said he was against any rebuilding at the present time. "There are better ways of spending the city money just now," said Mr. Lyle. When we build we ought to build in another place. If Waco keeps on growing, the square will not be a suitable location for the city hall."

Need Other Things Now.
W. H. Jenkins said, "When we build, we ought to put up a city hall that will be a pride to the citizens of Texas. The sum of $150,000 would not near cover the cost of the structure that I am in favor of. We need other things more right now, and should wait until we have money to do it up well. The present location, if we can build a city hall with a marketplace underneath."

J. H. Caskey said he was in favor of a combination city hall and marketplace, with stalls for country traders. R. Alexander said the city had enough expenses already.

R. P. Gribble is opposed to incurring any new debts.

Walter G. Weaver said he was in favor of a building that would size up with the surroundings.

Abe Gross said: "We need a market place worse than a city hall. If we can put the two in combination, all right, but I am not in favor of going too deep in debt."

W. W. Laster said he was in favor of a new city hall, but not on the present location. "The square is all needed for country trade," said Mr. Laster. "Leave it open for the farmers."

John M. Clement said he was in favor of a new city hall in a different location. "What we need on the present site of the city hall," said Mr. Clement, "is a market place."

Charles H. Brooks said he is opposed to a new city hall and a bond issue. It means higher taxes and high taxes do not help a town.

Foster for Remodeling.
Street Commissioner John Foster favors remodeling the city hall building, believing that the time is not opportune to float a bond issue for the purpose of erecting a new municipal building. Mr. Foster made this statement yesterday afternoon. It is the same that was made by him a few weeks ago when the matter of a new city hall was agitated. However, it differs in some particulars from the statement that he took in the city commission meeting of last Tuesday when he expressed no objection to floating bonds for a city building. The commission at that time had no tangible proposition for consideration and the discussion was not of an official nature. Mr. Foster although one of the commissioners, has given some thought to the question of the city hall. First the matter came to his attention when the contract for paying the city hall square was brought up. To his office reverted the question of supplying the street surrounding the building. Need of improvements looking to the beautification of the building first presented themselves to Mr. Foster. Then the question of supplying adequate quarters for the various departments of the city came up.

Discussing the question yesterday Mr. Foster said: "The present city hall building was erected at a cost of something like $35,000 to $40,000. It has been in use many years. However, the rapid growth of the city has formed a peculiar situation. It is this, if a building is erected at this time, it might not prove adequate to the needs in a few years to come. I am in favor of remodeling the present structure. It would be possible with the expenditure of about $25,000 to make the present building three stories. The ceilings of the building are unusually high and I believe the roof could be raised and the floor of the second story lowered for this amount. Then an addition for a city jail could be constructed at the rear of the building at a small cost."

The question of remodeling the present building will probably be discussed this morning, although it is not known whether official action will be taken.

Alfred Abel, in discussing the proposal to float bonds for a new city hall, yesterday said: "I favor remodeling the present building, but would not vote for bonds to build a new structure."

J. D. Willis Opposes It.

PHILLIPS DIES DURING NIGHT

GRAND SECRETARY OF ROYAL
ARCH CHAPTER EPIRES
WITH APPOPLEXY.

FOUND IN MASONIC TEMPLE

Grand Secretary Watson Comes Upon the Body Lying on Floor of Toilet Room.

The lifeless body of Clarence R. Phillips, aged 36 years, was found on the floor of a toilet room in the second story of the Grand Masonic Temple at 720 clock yesterday morning. The discovery was made by John Watson, grand secretary of the Masonic grand lodge. Death evidently came early in the night, as the face was discolored. Just before Mr. Phillips was called to view the remains and although he has not expressed an official opinion as to what death was caused by apoplexy. Dr. H. F. Connally, who had also been attending the dead man, said death was due to that cause. He said Mr. Phillips' blood pressure had been very great for the past few days.

Mr. Phillips was grand secretary of the Grand Royal Arch chapter and the Grand Council of Texas. Since his election to this office almost two years ago he has been living in the Masonic lodge, sleeping in his office room alone. From appearances Mr. Phillips had not retired for the night. Mr. Watson, who has offices in the building, reached his office shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning. A few minutes later he went to the lavatory. Here he found the body of Mr. Phillips. The body was lying on the side and was on the floor, coming from an abrasion on the head, evidently made when he fell. His hat was found on the floor near the body. His coat, containing a watch and other valuables, was hanging on a rack in his office. He believed he was preparing for bed and had gone to the toilet when death came.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 1 o'clock at McGregor. Services will be under the auspices of the Masonic lodge of that place. The body will be shipped to McGregor at 11:30 o'clock this morning, and it is expected a number of Masons from here will accompany the remains.

Surviving him are two sons, Earnest and Duke, who reside at McGregor, and five other sons and a daughter who reside at Bay City, Texas.

At the time of his death Mr. Phillips was serving his second term as grand secretary of the Royal Arch chapter. He had been a member of the Masonic lodge for twenty years. Since his appointment to the grand secretaryship he has resided in Waco. Prior to that time he lived at McGregor.

Mr. Phillips only a month ago returned from a visit to Baltimore. His health seemed much improved following this trip, and while high blood pressure was noted for some time, there were no indications that a serious physical illness threatened him. Wednesday he was apparently in the best of health, attending to his usual duties. He has complained from indigestion from time to time, but no evidences that the attack was dangerous had been given. He was an extraordinarily heavy man, weighing approximately 230 pounds.

He has resided in this county for thirty years.

Clarence R. Phillips was one of the best known men in Masonic circles in the county. He was elected to the office he held after the death of John A. Bryan of Cleburne. Twice since then he has been re-elected. At one time he was grand high priest of the Grand Chapter. He has always retained his membership in the McGregor lodge, although residing here.

At one time he was chairman of the county democratic executive committee, succeeding Abe Gross in 1908. He served in this capacity until 1910, when he resigned for business reasons. Edgar W. H. was secretary of the committee during the chairmanship of Mr. Phillips. At one time he also was mayor of McGregor. In business life he was engaged in the mercantile business at McGregor. He also served his term as traveling salesman and became acquainted in all parts of the state.

Expressions of regret at the death of Mr. Phillips were numerous yesterday. They came from men who had known him best and who appreciated his efforts he had given to Masonry and to the betterment of life.

A successor to fill the vacancy caused by his death will be named by John L. Terrell of Dallas, grand high priest of the Grand Royal Arch chapter. The successor will serve until an election is held. This will be in December of this year.

W. S. BAKER FUNERAL SUNDAY

Members of the Family Expect the Body to Arrive on That Morning.

In all probability the funeral of Walter S. Baker, who died suddenly in St. Francis, Mo., Tuesday night, will be held in this city Sunday afternoon. Interment will be at Oakwood. Telegrams received by members of the family here yesterday were to the effect that the remains would reach here Sunday. In that event the funeral will be held the same day. Messages are being sent all along the line keeping in touch with the returning funeral party.

The Waco Bar has been called to meet this morning at 9 o'clock at the Fifty-fourth district court room to pay respect to the deceased member. At the time, also, honorary pallbearers will be appointed by the bar. It is expected talks on the life of Mr. Baker may be made by some of those who knew him best.

GAS MAN IS COMING

STOUGH TELEGRAPHS THAT HE EXPECTS TO BE WITH COMMISSION TODAY.

Wants Franchise So the Work Can Commence at Once—Has Money to Build Line.

George W. Stough, representing the syndicate of capitalists applying for a franchise to supply natural gas to Waco from the Mexico fields, wired Mayor J. H. Mackey yesterday afternoon, advising him that he would arrive here this morning to meet the commission.

"I will be with you tomorrow, Friday," the telegram dated at Kansas City, reads, "and hope to meet with the entire board of commissioners and, if possible, come to an understanding. I am anxious to get busy both for the future good of Waco, myself and associates."

Discussing the proposition, Mayor Mackey said that he had been very favorably impressed with the earnestness and the business-like character of the representations made by Mr. Stough as to the financial standing of the men behind the enterprise.

Mr. Stough will be given a full and cordial hearing and his proposition the most careful attention. Mayor Mackey regards the contemplated installation of a natural gas piping system as one of the most important propositions ever submitted to the commission. Mr. Stough has made it clear, the mayor says, that he is not seeking for his company an exclusive franchise nor asking the right to establish a natural gas monopoly. That phase of the proposal has tended to influence not only the mayor but all of the commissioners in its favor.

As the situation now stands, the prospect for the speedy construction of a pipe line supplying consumers in Waco with natural gas at 50 cents in bright. The representative of the financial backers of the enterprise has already stated that his principals are prepared to begin work on the construction of the line immediately the franchise is granted.

DISCUSS SPECIAL SEWER.
Chamber of Commerce Committee Meets With Commission.

The committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to take up the matter of a special sewer for the Higgins, Hill, Praetorian and Wietush buildings, met with members of the city commission yesterday afternoon and discussed the matter at length. After the meeting E. W. Marshall said that his opinion was that the city would need a deeper sewer in the near future, but that the committee would not make any recommendations to the city commissioners. Those on the committee were Frank L. Miller, T. P. Duncan, E. W. Marshall, H. M. Balne, E. F. Drake.

STEAMER GOES INTO A SEWER

New Storm Water Drain at Second and Franklin Streets is Damaged.

The storm water sewer just recently constructed by the city, that crosses the intersection of Second and Franklin streets diagonally, and which is designed to drain from that territory to the new Mary street sewer, was wrecked, and it required the automobile engine of the fire department to pull the steamer of Engine Company No. 2 out of it last night.

It was in the midst of the downpour of rain, just before 8 o'clock, with streets slippery and muddy, that No. 218 at the corner of First and Mary streets was sent in, a boy having sounded the alarm, being misled by a reflection which he thought was a fire. Chief Prescott, his assistants and much of the apparatus responded as it is in part the Mary street sewer, a valuable property is located. Engine No. 2 struck the sewer directly in the center of the street intersection and one rear wheel went into it. The sewer also broke on the south side of Franklin street, and also at the northeast corner of the street intersection. The automobile engine was hitched to the steamer with a chain tackle and it was lifted out with apparently no damage to the steamer.

While the first alarm was being answered Box 34, at the corner of Third and Franklin streets, was sent in. Who pulled this box is not known, but it happened at a time when the fire boys at Herring avenue station were having a spread at their engine house, and as a second alarm would call them out it disturbed the festivities.
